Medford, Stoneham Win at Garden

BOSTON GARDEN, Jan. 17—Assuring itself of at least a tie for the leadership in the C. B. I. Hockey League, Medford High defeated Arlington, 4 to 2, in a bitterly fought contest before an estimated turnout of 2000 here this afternoon.

Figuring in every one of his team's scores, Fran O'Grady of Stoneham turned in the "hat trick" and assisted on a fourth goal as Stoneham blanked Melrose, 4 to 0, in the opener.

The Mustangs took a two-goal lead on Arlington in the first period, Charlie Abele scoring an unassisted marker and Bill Ford pushing in a rebound shot, Mike Torperzer and Allie Powers assisting.

A length of the ice solo by Arlington's Bill Leary put the Spy Ponders back into the game in the second period but two more Mustang tallies, by Abele and Torperzer, gave Medford a substantial lead. The Spy Ponders' other goal was notched by Buddy Kinirry with Leary setting it up.

Rindge was slated to meet Newton, and Belmont was scheduled to tangle with Cambridge Latin in the second twin bill.

Common Draft Rejected by NFL

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—National Football League clubowners rejected a common draft with the rival All-America Conference today without bringing the matter to a vote and then tabled San Francisco's application for a franchise for one year.

Al Ennis, general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles, introduced the motion asking for a common draft, but when there was no second, it died without a vote.

The plea for a common draft, under which the two major pro grid loops would co-operate in signing new talent instead of bidding against each other, originally was made by Alexis Thompson, wealthy young owner of the Eagles.

AHA Foorwards Impressive in Prague Drill

PRAGUE, Jan. 17 (AP)—The American Amateur Hockey Ass'n team, whose place in the Olympics still is being disputed by the U. S. Olympic committee, went through another practice session today and showed the power of its forward wall.

The first actual test since the players got off the Queen Elizabeth after a rough sea trip that was followed by an unpleasant flight from London to Prague, comes tomorrow when they take the ice against the Czechoslovakian Olympic team.

Coach Johnny Garrison of Lincoln, Mass., a former Olympic player, said he had a good team, and the ringside experts agreed with him as far as his forward wall went.

The squad broke out in its red and white striped blue sweaters and after luncheon the athletes went window shopping. Stores close here Saturday afternoons.

Accompanying the team is John Semple of Lynn, Mass., the trainer, renewing acquaintanceships. Semple ran in the annual Czechoslovakian Marathon at Kosice last October, finishing 24th.

Hundreds at the winter stadium watched the practice. They came in as the public skated to phonograph music. The public was swept off the ice and the rink turned over to the visitors.

Matches in Bratislava, Brno and Prague next week also were scheduled.

Fire Sweeps Tobin's Home

Last-Ditch Parley Seeks Truck Pact

PRESIDENT JAMES HURST, REV. THOMAS E. SHORTELL, S.J.
Official, Surprise Speaker Attend Truckers' Meeting

Faced by a solid vote of striking truck drivers not to submit ther wage dispute to arbitration, Gov. Bradford today indicated he would not be stampeded into hasty action and that the public welfare will be the main factor influencing his decision to seize or not to seize the trucking industry.

"I have no desire to take sides in the dispute," the Governor said, "and am concerned primarily with protecting the public from any jeopardy that might result from the strike."

Before he arrived at the State House for a conference with the Governors of the other New England states to discuss the fuel oil shortage and truck, strike, Bradford had been apprised of the action of Local 25, AFL Teamsters Union, in unanimously voting rejection of arbitration.

Both sides are scheduled to meet at 2 p. m., with Douglas V. Brown, State moderator under the Schlichter law, at the State House, after which Brown will make his report to the Governor.

THUNDER REFUSAL

The strikers met at the South End Municipal Building and thundered their refusal to mediate their differences with the truck owners, after Rev. Thomas E. Shortell, S. J., of Boston College, a member of the Schlichter committee, had made a surprise appearance and told the strikers their cause was just.

"I will tell you," Fr. Shortell said, "as I would tell Gov. Bradford, that your strike is not the type they put the Schlichter law through for. The Schlichter committee had no idea that a strike such as yours would be considered as endangering public health and safety.

"You haven't endangered public health and safety. You've carried food and medical supplies. I think you have a just cause for a strike and I hope you win it."

The governor and other State officials were attacked by unic speakers for using what they termed "totalitarian tactics" and playing "political football."

Pointing out that in his public statements on the strike he had never specifically declared he would seize the industry, Gov. Bradford said he had not yet decided whether he would order such action.

He added that if a seizure took place, it would be confined to firms trucking food and medical supplies and not to those handling general freight.

"That's ridiculous," said Lester Hunt, international union representative. "Food, fuel and medical supplies have been rolling along without interference. Never at any time in the strike was there less excuse for the Governor to act."

Hunt repeated the statement by James V. Hurst, Local 25 president, that arbitration would be recommended to the 6000 striking truckers "if the third man were appointed by Labor Sec. Schwellenbach.

No seizure can take place, however, until after the Governor receives from Moderator Brown a report that the latter is unable to bring the disputing parties together in an agreement for arbitration.

The deadline for the Brown report, originally set for 10 p. m. last Thursday, has been extended by mutual consent until midnight tonight.

Atty. J. Albert Wool, member of the Washington legal force of the International Teamsters' Union, has arrived in Boston to direct any legal move in behalf of the strikers if the Governor seizes the industry.

Baruch Urges U.S. to Back Union of Europe Under UN

By WILLIAM J. THEIS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (INS)—Bernard M. Baruch laid down a bold, 11-point blueprint for world recovery today, based on a Union of Europe under the United Nations and backed by an American pledge to go to war against any aggressor nation. His program, aimed at spurring the world to work itself back on its feet, called for an all-out production drive everywhere and a guarantee that this country would buy any global surplus for the next five years.

He urged that Congress force cuts in farm and food prices and enact emergency wage controls along with a new excess profit tax and a moratorium on income tax cuts for two years—all designed to roll back inflation.

The whole program, he told the Senate foreign relations committee might best be directed by a "general staff for peace" under a single administrator responsible only to the President and Secretary of State.

"Gentlemen," he said "the time has come to organize — to mobilize—for peace. It cannot be put off safely any longer. The time for courage and decision is here."

FIVE-YEAR BUYING PLAN

Here are his 11 points:

1—The United States to buy all nonperishable raw materials produced anywhere in the next five years, including up to 750,000 tons of crude rubber.

2—Extend the president's tariff authority for three years.

3—An european political, economic and defense union under the United Nations.

4—The United States and such other countries as join it should mutually guarantee the nations entering this union against aggression a firm promise to go to war in joint defense if any of them are attacked.

5—The Ruhr to be regulated under priorities and international control.

6—Stabilization of European currencies.

7—A two-year peace production drive in the United States.

8—An across-the-nation anti-inflation program.

9—Realistic settlement of all prewar and wartime intergovernmental debts.

10—The British and others to retain empire preferences for three years.

11—A "general staff for peace" to develop America's overall global strategy.

Baruch argued against any piecemeal action or half-way measures. He recalled his plea for an overall wage-price ceiling early in the war and declared that the finally adopted legislation actually legalized inflation.

DOLE BLASTED

He criticized the emphasis placed on doling out money to help the war-stricken, declaring that the better solution lies in increased work and production.

Baruch made the union of Europe the keystone in building success for his plan.

He mentioned Russia only in passing with the expressed hope that the Soviet would eventually join in any mutual defense pact between Europe and the United States.

Satan's Kingdom Swelters at --14

SATAN'S KINGDOM, Ct., Jan. 19 (AP)—It was only 14 below zero in Satin's Kingdom today as this section of New Hartford and other Connecticut "hot spots" remained true to their names in the face of a cold wave that brought unofficial readings of as low as 30 below in other parts of the state.

Ansom Morton, whose home is in the heart of Devil's Den, a section of Wilton, said it was only 16 below—warm and cozy compared with the 26 below recorded at the same time on the thermometer at Wilton's town hall.

Furnace Hollow, in Ellington, checked in with a 20 below reading.

One More Frigid Night Due and Then???

New England was frozen solidly today in the worst cold wave of the winter with train, bus and trolley traffic disrupted as the mercury slumped sharply in the wake of the week-end snowfal. Weather officials predicted the below-zero temperatures which griped most of the area would linger through tonight but less frigid weather would arrive tomorrow.

Snow-conscious residents of the six states were assured, however, there was no new storm on the weatherman's charts. Only disturbance in sight is a storm centered off James Bay in northern Canada and forecasters are as yet unable to predict whether it will head in this direction.

HUB SCHOOLS CLOSED

Boston elementary schools were closed because of the extreme cold. Both high and grammar schools in many Massachusetts cities also were closed for the day.

Thousands were delayed in reaching work as the frigid wave knocked transportation schedules askew. New Haven, B. & M. and B. & A. trains were running anywhere from 15 minutes to more than two hours late on the long-distance runs.

Commuter trains' schedules were completely washed out. Many local trains on the New Haven's lines were stopping at every station until fully loaded, then expressing into Boston.

TRAINS RUN LATE

The New Haven's Owl train from New York arrived on time, but other trains from New York, Philadelphia and Washington were running from an hour to two hours and 35 minutes behind time. A Providence local, bogging down in a snowdrift at Attleboro, finally reached Boston two hours late.

Boston & Maine through trains were having the same trouble and were an hour to 1¼ hours behind schedules.

Boston, with a minimum reading of 3 above at 7:30 a. m., was a comparatively warm spot in New England as temperatures tumbled the mercury as low as 27

Ex-Gov. Tobin, Family Routed By Blast, Fire

Carol Ann, 13-year-old daughter of former Gov. and Mrs. Maurice J. Tobin, filled the role of heroine early today when fire swept the cellar and first floor of the Tobin home in Hopkins rd., Jamaica Plain, causing injury to one fire captain and damage estimated at $3500.

The fire was preceded by a blast from a defective heater.

Awakened by the smell of smoke, Carol Ann ran to an adjoining bedroom and awakened her parents, who discovered flames eating up through the living room floor near the wall.

Tobin rushed upstairs to the bedrooms where Helen Louise, 14, and Maurice, Jr., 10, were sleeping. Wrapping them in blankets, he guided them to the street and took them to the adjacent home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. McCourt, accompanied by Mrs. Tobin.

The alarm was telephoned from the McCourt home.

Returning to the burning house, the former Governor rescued some personal valuables and then tried to extinguish the flames in the living room, but they had gained too much headway.

He then sought to make his way to the cellar, but was driven back by dense smoke. Going outside, he broke the cellar windows to let out the smoke, but was prevented by Mrs. Tobin from making a second attempt to enter the cellar.

Firemen were forced to don gas masks to enter the cellar. There they found the flames raging through the children's playroom.

Fire Capt. Myles Murphy of Ladder 10 suffered a severe gash in the right hand from broken glass and was taken to City Hospital, where several stitches were taken. He was held for antitetanus inoculation.

During the excitement, the Tobin children suddenly discovered the family dog Galty, a Kerry Blue given to the former Governor as a Christmas present, was missing. Firemen found the dog huddled in a basket in the kitchen and carried it to safety.

The cries of fire raised by the children alarmed Mrs. McCourt to such an extent that she tripped and fell while running downstairs to let them into her home. She suffered a bruised face but was otherwise unhurt.

The blaze was confined to the cellar and first floor and was brought under control in less than an hour. Dist. Fire Chief James Walsh said it was caused by a defective oil heater.

Cambridge Police Just Beat Stork

Two Cambridge policemen ran a dead heat with the stork at 4 a. m. today, with Mrs. Mary E. Hannam giving birth to a five pound-eight-ounce daughter on a police stretcher at Cahill House, Cambridge City Hospital.

Her husband, Gordon, telephoned the police station with an appeal for an ambulance for his wife.

Patrolmen Samuel Arthur and Patrick J. Murphy carried her out to their ambulance on a stretcher and headed for the hospital over snow covered streets.

Once there, there wasn't time to remove Mrs. Hannam from the stretcher. The baby girl was being born as they carried in the mother. Miss Helen Kenefick, night supervisor of nurses, took it over and delivered the infant.

BROOKLINE WOMAN HURT

Mrs. Joseph Gould, 24, of Summit ave., Brookline, was treated at City Hospital today for a possible rib fracture which she claimed she received when she was jostled against an inbound Met surface car by a throng waiting at the stop at Beacon st. and Summit ave.

Cod Liver Oil + Baby = Uproar

By STANLEY CHIPMAN

Mrs. Annette Colvario of Snow Hill st., North End, knew very well she was going to have trouble with her little Frankie this morning when he saw her coming with the cod liver oil bottle—but she didn't dream how much trouble. She knew there would be an ado, for Frankie, although only 15 months old, had a mind as bitterly set as an old man's so far as cod liver oil was concerned.

He spotted the bottle, lifted his voice in anguish and beat the pillow with clenched fists. Mrs. Colvario, uttering quiet assurances which Frankie instantly tabbed as a deceitful attempt to lull him, stood with the eye-dropper poised over his noisily, opened little chops.

He snapped them shut and angrily gnashed his four teeth.

Mrs. Colvario resorted to one of the benevolent but doublecrossing ruses which sometimes make the young wonder in sour retrospect whether even a mother may be trusted. She gave Frankie the pretty metal cap of the cod liver oil bottle to play with.

It had a little hole in the center to accommodate the eye-dropper. Frankie gave himself a quick aptitude test and scored 100; thrusting one of his pinkies into the hole. As he opened his mouth to gurgle a bravo for himself, Mrs. Colvario gave him a quick squirt of the cod liver oil.

Frankie blew his little top. The screams brought a neighbor, Mrs. Louis Giglo. Then they found they couldn't remove the metal cap from his finger. The women tried and failed; so did Frankie's sister, Marie, 11, and his brother, Thomas, 9.

Mrs. Colvario went to the window and called in some city employes working in the street. They stacked their snow shovels and came up. Frankie lumped them among his enemies and hit a higher key. Nor could they remove the metal cap.

Mrs. Colvario telephoned for the police. Patrolman Charles A. Donavan and Robert Collins arrived and did their best. Frankie's finger and voice swelled together. The cops had a try at the metal cap, gave up and drove Frankie to Mass. General Hospital.

There thew used a ring-cutter on the bottle cap.

Frankie's voice appeared to ebb a little and he was holding himself down to mere gulps and hiccoughs, when he chanced to peer down at what they now were doing to his finger.

Then he really did achieve high C—they were rubbing it with oil? (Olive oil, that is.)

Name Convict in Prodigy Hunt

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19 (INS)—An "India rubber man" entered the picture today in the case of missing Jacqueline Horner, 14, stage and screen pianist, who disappeared from her Hollywood home Tuesday.

The Los Angeles Examiner said it had learned police would soon issue an "all points bulletin" on Donald Dively, 44, who previously visited the Horner family and casually mentioned wanting to spend $50,000 on the prodigy to make her a star.

The bogus talent expert, the Examiner said, was a three-time loser, ex-convict with a fantastic police record involving fraud, bad checks, grand theft, polygamy and robbery.

The Examiner said Dively had posed as "Dr. Don Edwards" to visit the Horner home and that less than three weeks after the swindler's visit, Jackie disappeared.

Dively used his wife, the former Nellie Jean Bechkoff, 23, Fresno farm girl who formerly liv d with the Horners, to gain entrance into the Horner household, according to the newspaper.

"Dr. Edwards," the Examiner said, brought the little actress Christmas gifts of expensive perfume — bought with worthless checks—and told her glowingly of what he could do for her career.

Dively's ability to dislocate nearly any of his joints for 48 hours at a time has earned him more than $30,000 in 200 damage claims and earned him the "India rubber" title, the newspaper said.

Heroic Couple Rescued Their Two Babies From Fire by Tossing Them From Window

Three Injured, Two Children Saved in Fires

Three firemen were injured, 18 persons were driven to the frigid outdoors and $15,000 damage was caused in a series of weekend fires featured by the acrobatic rescue of two small children.

The double thriller was carried out with the precision of an aerial act during a $10,000 fire in a dwelling in Cambridge st., Cambridge.

Almon Whitman, 36, was abed with a cold in his third floor apartment when a noonday fire broke out on the second floor. Also in the house were his wife, Grace, 34, and the two youngest of their four children.

Whitman, in pajamas, leaped 15 feet to an adjoining roof. His wife tossed into his arms Robert, 14 months, and Almon, Jr., 3. Then she leaped to the snow covered roof.

LOWERS BLANKET

A neighbor, Mrs. Timothy Glennon, Jr., witnessed the rescue and lowered a blanket from her adjoining third floor apartment. The children were placed in it one at a time and lifted through a window.

Also driven from the dwelling were Mrs. Mary Kudis, 52, (the Whitman children's grandmother) and her son Walter, 35.

The other Whitman children, Charlotte, 11, and Ronald, 7, were outside the house at the time.

In Brighton, Fireman Charles B. Fernald, 21, of Lincoln st., Brighton, suffered cuts on one hand battling a $2500 blaze in a three story dwelling in Tremont st. which forced eight occupants to the street.

BATTLE NINE HOURS

Two other firemen were injured battling a general alarm fire that raced through Kray's Women's Apparel Shop in Congress st., Portsmouth, N. H., and raged for nine hours during the snowstorm. Damage was figured at $50,000.

Fireman Daniel McCarthy injured a leg in a fall on the ice, and Ladderman Earl Barnaby was overcome by smoke while atop an aerial ladder.

Four others were driven out and damage of $50,000 caused by a fire that destroyed the Conway Inn, built in Conway 150 years ago as a stop for stage coaches on the run from Boston to Albany.

British Currency Hint 'Unofficial'

LONDON, Jan. 19 (AP)—William Whiteley, labor member of Parliament and parliamentary secretary to the treasury, said today there is no official indication the government will replace its present currency with a new note issue.

Whiteley, chief government whip in Parliament, told a national savings meeting in Durham, Saturday, that "some fine morning these hoarders will wake up and find their hoard valueless."

His office said today that Whiteley was not talking officially.

Whiteley's speech followed by less than a week a stock exchange rumor that the government was considering devaluing the pound.

Marines Deployed In Mediterranean

VALLETTA, Malta, Jan. 19 (AP)—The United States Navy's biggest peacetime Mediterranean assignment is being carried out here where the aircraft carrier Midway is taking aboard 1000 American Marines who arrived yesterday aboard the U. S. transports Bexar and Montague.

Naval officers stated the reinforcements are here to replace men whose tour of duty has expired and to increase the force available in the Mediterranean against such eventuality as guarding American interests in Palestine or in Cyrenaica, where the American Air Force is reopening an airfield.

Will Risk Surgery After Pulse Halted

TOWANDA, Pa., Jan. 19 (AP)—A 60-year-old woman whose pulse and breathing stopped for at least six minutes while she lay on an operating table in a Binghamton, N. Y., hospital laughed off the experience today and made plans for another try at her postponed surgery.

Mrs. Mary Verbeck had received an anesthetic, and Dr. Herman Snow was ready to begin an abdominal operation, when a nurse discovered Mrs. Verbeck's pulse and breathing had stopped.

Dr. Snow sent an emergency call for an iron lung.

Six minutes later the lung reached the operating room, and Mrs. Verbeck was placed inside. Within 30 minutes her heart and lungs were functioning normally, and she was removed from the machine.

Reds Beat De Gaullists In Paris Suburb Elections

PARIS, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Communists picked up strength and Gen. Charles de Gaulle's rally of the French People (RPF) lost ground in a municipal by-election yesterday in the Red Paris suburb of Malakoff, unofficial returns showed today.

The Communists polled 6282 votes, 101 more than last October, and retained their 13 municipal council seats. The RPF won only nine seats, one less than in October, and lost more than 600 votes.

Convicted Girl's Mate on Trial in Sex-Lure Slaying

NEVADA CITY, Cal., Jan. 19—In the same courtroom where his blonde wife was sentenced to die three weeks ago, Joseph L. Hardy, 24, of Kittery, Me., went on trial for his life today in the "love lure" slaying of a motorist last July 30.

The poker-faced common law husband of Lois Hunt Hardy, 22, formerly of Portsmouth, N. H., went before the court without the solace of a protestation of love or good wishes from his bride.

The pair are accused of the premeditated killing of a Californian who befriended them, in order to take his car and cash.

STAGED LOVE SCENE

He was J. W. McLain of Burbank, who met them on the highway as they hitchhiked toward Reno. He paid for the lodging and a dinner and breakfast before he met death embracing Lois in a quiet meadow in the lofty Sierras.

The state charged the couple conspired during their night at a tourist camp with McLain to have Lois lure him into a love scene while her husband crept up from behind and shot him through the head.

Lois allegedly admitted turning her victim's head so he would not see the gun pointed at close range. Her husband allegedly admitted shooting him once, then firing two more shots as McLain lay helpless.

CHRONIC JAIL BREAKER

Extra precautions were taken in handling Hardy as he was led into the courtroom. He escaped from jail here two months ago as the trial date approached, and was at large for three weeks until captured in Sanderson, Tex.

It was this jail break which cost him the love of his bride. Until that point she had declared her devotion for him, even to the point of announcing:

"It would be heavenly to die in the gas chamber with Joey."

Then, apparently enraged at his desertion of her with the murder trial ahead, she wrote that Hardy "was no good and never was any good."

It was not the first jail break for Hardy, whose life has been a series of brushes with the law. He was once released from an institution to enter the Army only to be jailed as a deserter by the military. It is believed he made three other escapes in the past 10 years.

TWICE DESERTED GIRL

Neither was this the first time Hardy had deserted Lois and left her to face the consequences of the slaying.

Their apprehension occurred at Las Vegas, Nev., when the auto taken from McLain crashed into a street light pole with Hardy at the wheel and Lois sitting beside him. She was dazed by the impact and unable to move. Hardy fled on foot and was picked up five miles from the city, hitch-hiking.

They were not immediately suspected of a murder and were being questioned as auto thieves when Rev. Craig R. Willoughby arrived at the Las Vegas jail to conduct non-denominational services.

In their midst, Lois shouted she wanted to "make my peace with the Lord." In a dramatic interview with the clergyman only, the couple confessed the slaying and later repeated it to authorities.

CRIME CONFESSED

The quoted confession told of the couple setting out with McLain on the murder morning with their plans all worked out. They halted at one meadow off the state highway, but it was too greatly exposed, so the couple waited until they found an isolated field near Truckee.

Hardy is quoted:

"We all three walked back into the woods, where McLain took Lois into his arms. Lois and McLain seated themselves on a blanket and began kissing.

"Lois turned his head so he couldn't see the gun. I then shot him through the left ear, and he fell back on the ground. Lois moved away from him, and I could see he was not dead, so I shot him two more times."

Easter Parade's Top Styles Won't Overtax Budget

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Boston American Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 19—The budget hunters who have an eagle eye on high fashion and more than a scrutinous orb on their pocketbooks haven't too much to worry about.

The spring fashion outlook doesn't appear too bad for them, since every attempt has been made this year to combat increased price with increased styling, to say nothing of the controversial increased hemline yardage.

After viewing collections of top-flight designers last week in which slightly larger than telephone numbers were quoted, even as wholesale prices, it will be refreshing to witness what the great garment industry has done in approximating style and price into a fusion of acceptance from the great American public of women who, government statistics disclose, spend less than $15 a garment.

Today for the first time, and in the swank plush of the Hotel Pierre's Cotillion Room, no less, a three-day panorama series sponsored by the garment industry gets under way for the programmed showing of clothes that have been clumped together for the bargain shoppers.

MODERATION KEYNOTE

With moderation the keynote of the spring fashion picture, it is expected the lower-bracket groups of clothes will subscribe to STUNNING—Ideal for spring and summer is this two-piece dress of printed surah combined with linen. Its jacket top is snugly fitted at waist and trimmed with touches of green and white print. Beige leather buttons enhance the ensemble.

FOR SPRING—Three-piece costume with slim black skirt, black and white print blouse and red wool hooded short coat is milady's choice for spring. Coat is detailed with slot seaming and lined with the print. Selected by Ruth Muggle-bee, fashion editor of the Boston American-Record. Easter fashions will emphasize the 13-inch hemline and lower-bracket groups of clothes will be spring's best sellers.

Gloria Swanson Wants Men To Get Into New Look Swing

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 19 (AP)—Actress Gloria Swanson believes there should be a "new look" for men. She told reporters that she approved of the "new look" for women because "I can relax and let my tummy go. I don't have to roll on the floor any more."

Here to be commentator for a fashion show which opened today for the benefit of the March of Dimes, Miss Swanson then went into a good-humored tirade against male dressing habits and recommended that men:

Wear garters; avoid that "Clippered neck" look after a haircut; be more willing to wear evening clothes; avoid feeling that only a sissy has a good manicure; use cologne after shaving instead of smelling like moth balls; hold up trousers with braces, not belts, and do something about those hats over one eye that make them look like detectives.

Need of 50,000 Vets Cited In Plea for State Rent Law

Fifty thousand Massachusetts veterans are in need of immediate housing and the existing shortage requires continuance of rent controls, Kenneth J. Kelley, secretary-treasurer of the State Federation of Labor, declared today.

Kelley spoke in Gardner Auditorium at a joint session of the Legislative Ways and Means, Mercantile Affairs and Municipal Finance committees, which were hearing 9 bills relating to rent control, housing and allied subjects.

He spoke in favor of the federation's bill which would control and stabilize rents and set up a temporary State rental and housing commission in the event that federal rent controls were not renewed before their expiration date next Feb. 29.

"There is a crying need for adequate housing and rent controls," Kelley said. "The present federal law is inadequate and inequitable in many respects. We need a State commission, a temporary one, at least, to control and stabilize rents, regardless of what action is taken by the federal government."

Kelley was the first of a long list of speakers waiting to give the joint session their views on the situation.

Sailors Fish $5350 War Bonds From River

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 19 (AP)—August Halicks was a happy man today, thanks to a couple of sailors who fished his $5350 in war savings bonds from the Delaware river.

The sailors, stationed aboard the dredge U. S. S. Delaware, noticed an envelope floating, snagged it and found four $1000 bonds and 54 of the $25 type.

The men notified police to whom Halicks had reported the bonds stolen from his home last Friday.

First Dance in Life With Wife Fatal to Man

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 19 (AP)—Harry E. Blomberg died at his home here after a catchy tune coming from his radio inspired him to dance for the first time in his life.

The 41-year-old garage proprietor, who never had danced, surprised his wife by suggesting that they try a few steps. She agreed, but a moment later Blomberg suffered a heart attack and died before medical aid could reach him.

Heart Attack Kills Garsson Witness

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19 (INS)—Joseph Freeman, 50, a key figure in the Garsson brothers munitions fraud case, died of a heart ailment on the eve of his trial in Washington for perjury.

Freeman was a business representative connected with the Garsson holdings. Appearing as a witness for Rep. May and Henry and Murray Garsson, he collapsed during their conspiracy trial and had been ill ever since.

He was born in London, Eng., came to the United States as a child and was educated in Boston. He had lived in Los Angeles 18 years.

Medford Public School Concert Set for Friday

The climax of the evening will be the ensemble of massed bands. The program is under the direction of Ralph I. Schoonmaker, director of music in Medford and originator of the idea.

Woman, 85, Found Dead Amid Riches

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J., Jan. 19 (AP)—The body of a lonely 85-year-old spinster was found amid an array of linen, clothes and momentoes which jammed her house to the doors.

Searchers came upon more than $4000 in cash and two bank books with a balance of $14,000.

Police Chief Halley Thomas identified the woman as Miss Amanda Pilgert, with no known relatives closer than cousins. The coroner said she apparently died of natural causes three days ago. Police posted a 24-hour guard over the house.

Among the hoard were 75 new bedsheets and quantities of unused silk stockings.

Might Even Crack Atom In Kitchen

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (INS)—The day on which some scientific genius mixes up a batch of atomic energy in the kitchen may be centuries off—or just around the corner.

At the moment, Uncle Sam, who controls the only known way to create nuclear fission, is doing it the hard way.

All scientists and researchers now engaged in the government production of atomic energy are searching for "an easy way" to do it, according to W. E. Kelley, the civil engineer who is manager of operations for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

In the commission's carefully guarded office in the Empire State Building, Kelley today explained:

"All of us are trying to find some easy method to produce atomic energy, a way that will eliminate the present vast and very costly industrial plants now essential to its production."

There may be no easier way to produce atomic energy than that devised in a race against time by American, Canadian and English scientists working in the U. S. during World War II.

But as long as there is a possibility it can be stirred up in a teacup in the kitchen, the U. S. government dare not lag in its constant research for the easy way, Kelley said. Nor neglect the hard way.

4 Boys in Sniper Probe After Nurse Is Shot

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP) — Four boys were held by police today for questioning in a widening investigation of sniper pistol fire and burglaries touched off by the wounding of a nurse, Miss Polly Crawford, 55. She was reported in serious condition.

Police said two boys, aged 13 and 14, admitted firing four shots at her apartment house with a .22-caliber automatic target pistol from the roof of an adjoining building.

Porter, 79, Loyal To His Job, Dies

The snow and cold were too much today for Julius Reddick, 79, Holyoke st., South End, who interrupted his convalescence from a lingering illness to trudge to the Boylston st. building where he was a porter.

He hadn't intended to go back to work today, only wanted to speak with his boss about how he felt. Before seing the boss the aged man walked down to the basement to look over his job headquarters.

Maybe it was the sudden heat of the boilers after the cold walk. Maybe Julius Reddick was just too tired. He collapsed and died on his way to City Hospital in an ambulance.

Tiny Enzyme Seen Aiding Cancer Fight

Enzymes—so tiny there are hundreds of them in every cell in the human body—may be science's newest weapon in the conquest of disease and old age.

Enzyme research will help in the eventual cure of cancer, virus and other diseases for which there is no specific remedy today, according to Dr. James B. Summer of Cornell Medical School, Nobel prize winner, who, in 1926, crystalized an enzyme for the first time in history.

Dr. Summer will discuss the significance of these tiny crystals in the article, "The Secret of Life—Enzymes," in next Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Solon Calls Famous Liberals To Discuss Red Peril Curbs

By DAVID SENTNER
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19—Rep. Richard M. Nixon (R.) of California, today announced the House subcommittee on un-American activities which he heads would open hearings Feb. 5 to consider legislation to combat the subversive activities of the Communist Party.

In order to obtain the widest viewpoints on "the grave constitutional problems involved," Nixon pointed out, the witnesses will include such well-known liberals as Louis Waldman, Morris Ernst and Arthur Garfield Hayes, New York attorneys.

Hayes will represent the American Civil Liberties Union.

Others who will testify include Atty.-Gen. Clark, Robert R. Milan, chairman of the committee on the Bill of Rights, American Bar Ass'n and a group of Washington attorneys who have been studying the proposal to outlaw the Communist Party.

Former Undersec. of State Sumner Welles and former U. S. Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts have also been invited to testify.

Nixon said each witness would be asked the following questions:

"Do you consider our present laws adequate to combat subversive activities in the U. S.; if not, what specific changes in the present laws would you recommend?"

"What is your opinion as to the true character and aims of the Communist Party of the United States?"

"What are the constitutional questions which arise from proposed legislation on outlawing the Communist Party or from the legislation which is now pending before the subcommittee?"

Proposed bills involved call for outlawing the Communist Party, having Communists register as agents of a foreign power and having the Communist Party file regular financial reports.

Break Floods Atlantic Ave., Halts Traffic

Early morning traffic on Atlantic ave. was snarled today when a water main burst and sent up a six-foot geyser at the intersection of Commerce st.

Tons of water which flooded the broad thoroughfare quickly froze in near-zero temperature, turning the pavement into a sheet of treacherous ice. City crews hastily spread sand.

All bus, truck and auto traffic was halted by a detail of eight policemen directed by Sgt. John O'Connell of the Milk st. station.

Buses linking the North and South stations were detoured via Dock sq., and trucks moving into the market were forced to follow similar routes.

Party Stabbing Victim Critical

Stabbed in the chest near the heart during a gay house party in a woman's apartment in Commonwealth ave., Allston, two days ago, William Cushing, 24, of Walter ave., Brookline, was in critical condition at City Hospital today.

Doctors ordered numerous transfusions over the weekend and credited seven administered in rapid succession after his admission, with bolstering his fast waning strength. However, he has failed to hold the gains.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Ruth Baker Schmidt, 32, estranged from her husband and daughter of an Army colonel, is held in $10,000 bonds awaiting a hearing in Brighton court tomorrow on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to murder.

Cowcatcher-Riding Crash Victim Weakens

Saved by the alertness of a woman railroad crossing tender after he had been dragged nearly two miles in the wreckage of his auto pinned to a locomotive's cowcatcher, a Cohasset fireman was fighting for his life at South Shore Hospital in Weymouth today.

Doctors termed critical the condition of Lot E. Bates, 54, of Beechwood st., who is suffering from internal injuries, a broken arm and elbow, a shoulder injury and cuts.

His auto was struck during the blinding snowstorm at the Beechwood st. crossing by the 7:45 a. m. Greenbush to Boston local. Police said the crossing is usually guarded but the tender was delayed in reaching his post by drifts.

The engineer, A. H. Chambers, and the fireman, C. L. Ledin, did not feel the impact and the train continued past tenders at Lower Spring st., Upper Spring st. and Pleasant st. to the Cohasset station.

Several persons at the station and at crossings said they saw the bulky object on the cowcatcher but assumed it was a new type of snowplow.

The train pulled out of the depot but was halted at the next crossing when Mrs. Alice M. Dalby, 60, of South Main st. recognized the bulky object as a smashed auto.

Police and fellow firemen were forced to pry open the car doors and tear out the front seat to extricate Bates, who collapsed after he was lifted into an ambulance.

Husband Finds Ill Wife Dead From Suffocation

Victim of asphyxiation caused by an ailment from which she had suffered for years, Mrs. Mildred J. Bowen, 43, of Commonwealth ave., Brighton, was found dead kneeling in a partially filled bathtub in her apartment.

Her husband, John J., 48, discovered the tragedy on arriving home from work. She was beyond aid when a physician arrived.

Hot Contests Lure Norwood, Saugus Voters on Cold Day

Town elections were held in Saugus and Norwood today, and heated contests with large fields of candidates were expected to attract sizeable turnouts of voters despite cold weather and snow-clogged roads.

In Saugus, there are 22 candidates for five selectman posts as the voters participate in their first election under the Plan E system of government. The new board of selectmen will chose a town manager.

There are eight candidates for five school committee places and many seeking the 50 two-year posts as town meeting members. Voters will also pass on a 48-hour week for firemen.

In Norwood, the electorate is voting on whether the town will change to a limited form of town meeting government.

There are nine candidates for two posts as selectmen, and seven are running for two position on the school committee.

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (AP)—William L. MacKenzie King may tell Canada th's week the date he intends to give up the prime ministership. He has held the job 19 years, longer than any one else in Dominion history.

Garage Owners Warned Of Snow-on-Roof Peril

Garage owners were advised today to guard against excessive deposits of snow on roofs after the top of a one-story garage in Wall st., Charlestown collapsed.

Five automobiles inside were damaged. Two were owned by Deputy Sheriff James Mellen of the Charles St. Jail and Sgt. Patrick J. Magner of Suffolk Superior Court.

Ask Speed on New Soldiers' Home

HOLYOKE, Jan. 19—Amid sharp exchanges over who was at fault for delaying the project, American Legionnaires from five western Massachusetts counties launched a drive today to speed construction by the State of a Soldiers' Home in Holyoke.

The State has appropriated $1,800,000 and Holyoke has donated land in the Cherryville section, speakers told a gathering of 400 Legionnaires from Worcester, Hampden, Hampshire, Franklin and Berkshire counties.

Mayor Henry J. Touhey has charged that delay in starting work was caused by State Com. Laurence J. Quigley of the Legion and not by State officials.

At the meeting, Dr. William P. Ryan and other Legion men declared the mayor was "grossly misinformed."

Sen. Byrd Doubts Wisdom Of Cutting Federal Tax

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (INS)—Sen. Byrd (D.) of Virginia, said that in his opinion "the wisdom of Federal tax reduction is highly debatable."

He indicated, however, that he would favor a tax reduction bill if accompanied by comparable reductions in the federal budget. He gave heavy federal spending at home and uncertainty as to the eventual cost of the Marshall plan abroad as principal reasons for doubting the advisability of a tax even greater moderation. The slim ton and full, full skirt is the top-selling silhouette in the less expensive clothes, and this merchandise will be seen in all its facts of expression.

PRICE GOING UP

The 13-inch hemline is an almost officially stabilized fashion item in this group to which, from all information, there is no resistance.

Because the dress manufacturers recently indicated that American women will pay roughly speaking from about 15 to 35 per cent more for next spring's dresses, they are anxious via this three-day display to show the reason for the increased selling price.

Back in 1942 a survey showed the average American woman spent $8 for her dress. In 1946 the figure was upped a few dollars, and this year it has been upped to about $15.

All of which, it is said, is attributed to the new look and the increased fabric yardage which must be used in the making of a garment to conform to the fuller silhouette. However, the slim silhouettes won't cost any less, even without the extra yards.

Styling, in accordance with the new and recent trends is reflected almost accurately in the budget clothes, since copying has become as much of an art in the garment industry as designing. Several houses make an exact profession of this phase of their business and are prepared to turn out a dress in less than 48 hours that incorporates all the high fashion clothes that cost many, many times more.

Despite the increased prices, manufacturers say buyers are snapping up their output at any price because by next Easter the new look will be established, fully accepted, nation-wide, and every woman will need new Easter wardrobes.

The adaptation of the fashion trends in budget clothes will be displayed in every type of garment, from women's sizes and half-sizes to junior sizes, maternity costumes to the glamorous Easter Parade outfit.

BUT HEMS GO DOWN

There may be a stampede on lines, but there's no skimping on the hemlines even in the fatigue shopper's clothes picture. That keeps going steadily down.

Only the brave will abide by the Paris-decreed length and wear their skirts 10 or 12 inches from the floor . . . for daytime, that is.

The ankle-length dress is here to stay . . . for a while anyway . . . and the budget-haters are turning these dresses out by the carloads since every working girl, to be dressed fashionably, must have an afternoon ankle-length frock for her social hours.

Exaggeration will not be found in these limited-priced garments, but all the high style interpretations and adaptations will be, to prove it doesn't cost so much to look "approachable."

to 38 degrees in the 24-hour period since the snowfall ended.

Below zero temperatures were recorded throughout Connecticut with Hartford experiencing the coldest January day in its history with a reading of 16.

COLDEST SPOTS

Vermont's cold spots were Burlington at —20 and Newport at —25. Durham took New Hampshire honors with a reading of —17, while the coldest spot in Maine was Caribou at —18.

While Boston's temperature remained above zero, nearby Concord had a reading of —20, while at Bedford Airport the temperature was —13. Lexington was —6 and Arlington —2. Natick was the warmest spot on the North Shore with a reading of 4 above.

Disrupted transportation facilities were further taxed by many persons who normally would drive to work. Instead cars remained in Garages and drivers chaded for trains, trolleys or buses.

MANY STRANDED

Met buses and surface cars were running late and were crowded to capacity, stranding many in the biting cold for as long as a half-hour in some cases.

Highway crews were out in force and had most Boston streets open. Public Works Comr. Robert P. Curley replaced a night crew at 7 a. m. with a fresh force of 1250 men, including contractors' employes, more than 400 trucks and 20 snowloaders. They will work until 6 p. m. when new crews will replace them to work through the night.

NO MORE IN SIGHT

Biting northwest winds held the mercury to an anticipated high reading of 17 this afternoon. A slump tonight to 10 is due in the down town area with five above to zero in most suburbs. The wind will diminish tonight, the weather bureau said.

HERE'S WHY YOU SHOULD USE 15% LESS HEATING OIL THIS WINTER

The heating oil supply situation is critical. Unless you and all other users of heating oil burn 15% less than normal during January, February and March, your home may be cold! Today the industry's production is the greatest in history—BUT—still not enough to meet the record demand. To save your 15%, take these steps now: Set thermostat at 68°...turn down to 60° at night or when away...keep radiators off in all unused rooms...use fireplace whenever possible—keep flues closed when not in use.

'Twas Cold

Fishermen and pier workers unload fishing boats at Boston's Fish Pier as the mercury made sudden drop to nearly zero today. The cold snap, expected to reach five below zero, came on heels of winter's sixth major snowstorm. The travelling was made hazardous as from nine to 12 inches of snow descended on Greater Boston.

"JANUARY IS JORDAN MONTH IN BOSTON"

100 YEARS

THE PEOPLE of California are commemorating this year the one hundredth anniversary of James Marshall's discovery of the gold deposits at Coloma, an event which turned the full focus of world attention upon the fabulous wealth thus disclosed and undoubtedly turned the course of world history.

This is a proper occasion for commemoration and celebration, not only in California but throughout the American nation generally, for much that has contributed to the progress and prosperity of the country came into being with the gold discovery, and a great deal of the productive and enlightened way of life we now pursue and enjoy and utilize so greatly to our present pleasure and profit began with the urgent quest for wealth and power which ensued.

The gold seekers, and even the relatively few who found the easy wealth they sought, were as people who had looked at the reflection of the stars in a pool and accounted it beautiful, and then raised their eyes to the resplendent heavens and saw and understood and appreciated the true beauty and glory of the wondrous stars themselves.

And after tiring of the quest when it was futile, or being sated by it, they raised their eyes from the pool and saw the REAL stars. The sweeping plains spread magnificently over the heart of America were made to bloom by men and women who discerned the difference between the glitter and the reality of natural wealth. In California, they found that it was not the gold in the soil but its FERTILITY that was a truly fabulous and inexhaustible source of wealth.

All over America, the surging tide of questing humanity that inundated the goldfields of California a hundred years ago turned eventually and industriously and productively to making those things flourish in the country—farms and vineyards, factories and homes and churches and schools—of which lasting enrichment is the wholesome fruit.

Those were the stirring golden days of California, and of America and of the whole world, and the memory of them should surely be perpetuated and the men and women who had the heart and the spirit and the vision to create those vital days should surely be held in honor and reverence.

But the golden monuments they raised, to their own greatest credit and to the greater and immeasurable enrichment of their country, are not to be found in the gleaming reflection they saw in the pool of their ambitions and desires but in the CREATIVE ENTERPRISES they built with permanence and in the manner of the productive life they lived for the ultimate bounty and security of the American people.

COSTLY DELAY

AS SOON AS the Massachusetts Legislature passes the State Community Property law, the people of this Commonwealth will have their Federal income taxes reduced at the rate of $300,000 a day.

Every twenty-four hours the people will have that MUCH MORE MONEY to use to combat ruinous inflation and to cope with the soaring cost of living.

The Legislature, and particularly its Committee on Legal Affairs, cannot afford to delay the State Community Property law any longer.

To do so would be to oblige the people of Massachusetts to give away $100,000,000 a year, needlessly and unnecessarily, to the Federal Government and to add that much to the already excessive cost of living.

Attorney General Clarence A. Barnes, the State's highest law officer, has given the Legislature an expertly drafted and completely constitutional Community Property bill, and he has implored Senators and Representatives to pass it promptly so that the people of Massachusetts may have the full benefit of the Legislature's only opportunity for tax reduction this year.

Senators and Representatives with the proper amount of sympathy for their constituents' hardships in this era of dollar-a-pound butter will surely heed the Attorney General and drastically slash taxes in the Community Property manner.

What care I for ice and snow
When love doth fill my days?
O rosy is the darkened day
And rosy is its stormy way
That leads me to my love.
So what care I if leaves be green
Or gray with early rime?
Love, ruling, reigning in the soul
Makes its own summertime.
—ELLEN M. HUTCHINSON.

BUTTER WENT UP to $1.15 a pound in Manhattan last week. The indignant mutterings of housewives on Third ave. could be heard above the roar of the Elevated trains. Appears to me the home managers are being pushed too far. They may soon crack down under the high price strain. Then we will have a housewives' rebellion. A woman provoked is just as dangerous as a woman scorned. And you know what the man said about a woman scorned.

PASSING BY: Casey Stengel. Genial baseball veteran. "How long ago was it you played the outfield for the Dodgers?" I asked Casey. He declined to be specific, saying "Oh, I was a Dodger when Zack Wheat played left-field and Jake Daubert played first base." If you can claim to be an informed sports fan state approximately what period in Dodger history that was. I say around 1914 . . .

Lucienne Boyer

June Peters: My favorite chanteuse is, next to Lucienne Boyer. It is about time I began to collect Jane's recordings. I believe I will start with her renditions of "It's Almost Like Falling in Love" and "I'm On the Lookout for Somebody New."

WANNA GET MARRIED: A young woman of Manhattan informs me she is contemplating the organization of a New York City "We Wanna Get Married Club" made up of a select group of big town bachelorettes. The young lady is serious about this. Therefore, I suggest the club in question have a name which has a less pretentious aspect than the "We Wanna Get Married Club." Call the club "The Catherine Wheel" in honor of St. Catherine of Alexandria, patron saint of spinsters.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q. What is "a New Yorker?" Can a person living in Ithaca, Syracuse, Buffalo or other places upstate refer to himself as a New Yorker? A. A real New Yorker is a native of the Borough of Manhattan of a long time residence. Some broad minded definers of the term accept residents of the Bronx as New Yorkers. In any event the term is used in connection with New York city and not New York state. Q.—Is a brother-in-law a relative? A. I hope you haven't been arguing with your sister about her husband. That's dynamite in a family argument. There are "blood relations" and "relatives by marriage." Brothers-in-law are in the latter class. Relatives by marriage are very often much easier to get along with, more helpful, more sympathetic and considerate than blood relations.

PLEASE NOTE: As I told you, United Nations delegates have been given the "diplomatic privilege" of buying Scotch whisky, tax free. This makes the price for them of the best Scotch $1.50. When you consider that the current price of Scotch to ordinary citizens is around $5.90 per fifth in the U. S. A. you get an idea of how much whisky is taxed.

ASIDES: Andrew Smith Hallidie was inspired to invent the cable car because he was sorry for the horses who had to pull the streetcars up the steep San Francisco hills . . . The variety of activities engaged in by brothers is often very interesting. I knew three brothers named Robinson. One was a racing writer for the Police Gazette, another was Charlie Chaplin's press agent and the third was president of the College of the City of New York.

CARUSO AGAIN: On Nov. 11, 1918, Enrico Caruso, then living at the Hotel Knickerbocker, 42d st. and Broadway, Manhattan, sang from the balcony of his apartment the national anthems of the United States, France and Italy. So states a historian. Why Enrico left out the British national anthem is not stated. By the way, do you know what the national anthem of Italy is? All right, sing or whistle it for your wife, sweetheart or pal and you won't have to send me a stogie.

OVER THE BRIDGE: A Brooklynite who recently became a bride informs me she had 50 proposals of marriage before she was 21. That's a lot of proposals. Still Brooklynites are marrying men. They can hardly wait to have a home of their own. The average Brooklyn girl receives at least 12 proposals of marriage before she is 21.

REPLYING TO: Am asked how many cigars I smoke daily and the number of highballs I consume in same period. A somewhat personal query but I have nothing to conceal in that respect. I smoke three or four cigars a day. I consume one highball to tripled daily before dinner.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright 1948, King Features Syndicate

NO ADHERENT of the union program, imposed through Roosevelt and maintained as long as he could by Harry Truman, can honestly object to General De Gaulle's proposal that the unions of France and the industries which employ them should become official departments of the national government.

Westbrook Pegler

At least, De Gaulle wants to abate treason and strife and put the country back to work and Roosevelt never did.

Even more than our country, France has been preyed upon by Communist traitors, most of whom fled to Russia, via Germany, with all the courtesies appropriate to gallant allies, after they had slit their countrymen's throats in the disgrace of 1940.

NOT SO LONG AGO, De Gaulle was courting the betrayers with talk of a cozy, if indecent relationship between La Belle France and "a dear and powerful Russia."

He lacked authority to bump them off, but the fact should be held against him that he was willing to make politics with the Kremlin, which had given them their orders to take France out of the war.

NOW DE GAULLE has lost patience and would adopt a form of that continental slavery described as Corporatism. It would be not much different from Communism, but the Communists would be the special devils and the loyal French would have the legitimate pleasure of butchering a few thousand of them in future riots.

IT IS UNBECOMING of an American to criticize De Gaulle, however, because our Roosevelt not only recognized Russia but extended elaborate privileges to many of the most dangerous traitors in the history of the United States.

It would be an irreverence to a great man to suggest that he did not know his appointees, and their appointees, were traitors, because he knew all. He had a thousand adherents planted in CIO unions.

We have had no report here of any system of thuggery done in the name of the nativist, or anti-Muscovite, branch of the French Federation of Labor corresponding to the brilliant corruption of American labor under our own AFL.

ROOSEVELT AND HIS captains and corporals beat De Gaulle to it by many years in a system of unionism subordinate to the party in office.

Although the Wagner Act was entitled a law to promote interstate commerce by abating labor disputes, actually, the first business of the Labor Relations Board and the Wages and Hours Administration for the next half dozen years was to foment troubles and, wherever possible, to delay peaceful settlement.

The national treasury paid the salaries of a thousand parasites straight from the cellars of conspiracy to organize unions where none had been and to corral unwilling American citizens into Communist cells or underworld rackets.

De Gaulle will be damned by the American Bolshevik and New Deal Fascist alike for his frank proposal to sweep the new unions into the government. But that is not novelty to us.

Under Roosevelt, all the most brutal fellows in the union movement were notorious Roosevelt henchmen. He gave them official license to shake down millions of politically feeble citizens for union dues and rackets, industry for fees in tribute and the entire population for that increase in the cost of living which represented the raises in pay received by the robots, usually after long stretches of payless paydays on strikes which they had no chance to vote against.

THE ONLY IMPORTANT difference was that here the relation between the unions and the government has been informal, contact maintained through the party and the boards. Wages have been decided not by elected bargaining agents but by party bureaucrats.

De Gaulle's idea is still wispy and probably will blow away, but at present he calls for an affectionate combination of unions and owners and a grand whackup of the profits now and again.

The latter part is too silly for serious consideration, but the collaboration of the union gangsters and the employers is no novelty to Americans.

Our big employers learned to like this because the union padrones have no sentimental ideas about humanity.

They deal in thousands of head of miners, drivers or nut-and-bolt mechanics, known by numbers rather than names and all subject to union taxes, of which the party naturally gets its share.

An 18-ton oil well derrick base toppled from a passing trailer truck on a Santa Monica, Cal., street and made this smashed mess of Edward Reynolds' car (above). At right, rescuers aid Reynolds to climb out of the crushed wreckage. At a hospital it was found he suffered a fractured rib and a slight knee injury.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19—Mary Pickford is bringing her life story to the screen. She has only to tell the true story of her career to make it the most romantic, the most exciting and greatest Cinderella drama ever filmed. Paddy Rogers will assist her in producing the Mary Pickford saga.

Mary Pickford

In a poll taken when Americans sweetheart was at her zenith, she was called the world's most famous woman. The story of the little Canadian girl named Gladys Smith, who became Mary Pickford, Canada's greatest star, has never been equaled for romantic interest. Mary and Douglas Fairbanks entertained and were entertained by royalty and all the most famous people in the world.

My memory goes back to when I first met Mary in Chicago in 1917, where I interviewed her. I still have a photograph taken of her—Mary, in a tailored suit and I was wearing a hat made of lace and trimmed with seal-skin, the worst looking thing on the world!

IF YOU HAVE SEEN "Torment," the Swedish prize-winning film of last year, you know that David Selznick really pulled a coup when he signed Alf Sjorberg to direct "A Doll's House" in Stockholm. That's the movie which we exclusively told you was being produced in Sweden and Norway with Dorothy McGuire.

Sjorberg is Sweden's top director, and although he's had dozens of offers since "Torment" was shown here, he has never before been interested in any Hollywood offer. Undoubtedly the reason he signed with David is that he can remain in his native country, because all the interiors, as we told you, will be filmed in Sweden and the exteriors in Norway.

WELL, LARRY PARKS and Columbia have had another tiff and Larry is again on suspension.

After Jeffrey Lynn took sick, Parks was asked to play opposite Dorothy Lamour in "Lets Fall in Love," and he turned it down, which necessitated paying a large amount of money for Don Ameche, an outside player.

So Parks is once again off the Columbia payroll and now is in deeper than deep. His case asking that he be given a new deal at Columbia with more money, comes up Feb. 24.

Two Boys Held In Death of Third

BOONVILLE, Mo., Jan. 19 (AP) —Two teen-aged inmates of the Missouri Training School for Boys were held today in the death of Rollang Barton, 15, found strangled in a segregation cell occupied by the three boys.

Sheriff Leo J. Ross identified the two as J. D. Hicks, 16, and Robert Oswald, 14. No charges have been filed.

The sheriff said Hicks and Oswald told this story:

The three, among 10 boys who escaped from the school Saturday and were recaptured, had been placed in a segregation cell. An argument ensued and Barton picked up a piece of glass from a broken window and raised it as though to strike the other two.

Hicks grabbed Barton, choked him, and with Oswald's aid, lifted Barton onto a cot. Then Hicks and Oswald tore several strips from bedding and Hicks used them to choke Barton again.

Movement of Red Troops Seen Answer to Greek Aid

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Dean of American Foreign Correspondents
Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

CAIRO, Jan. 19—More than 12 divisions of Soviet army troops are moving southward from Odessa, according to reports from Bucharest received through underground channels.

The troops are alleged to be swinging inland from general headquarters of the Red Army of the South at the Black Sea port of Odessa and through Bessarabia, former Romanian province but now a part of the Soviet Union in southwestern Russia.

Whether this movement has been prompted by new American moves in Greece and the eastern Mediterranean, and other moves reportedly contemplated in the Near East, or is intended to nip in the bud rebellious sentiment in Romania following the forced abdication of King Michael is a matter of conjecture.

ESTIMATE HALF MILLION

Two hundred thousand Red troops are alleged to have entered Romania from the north and from Odessa in the short time since Michael's abdication and his departure from Bucharest. This, says the report, brings the total of Red Army forces in Romania to 500,000 men for the purpose of "protecting communications with Austria."

The alleged movement of so many divisions of the Red Army is said to be known in Belgrade and Tirana, respective capitals of the Soviet puppet states of Yugoslavia and Albania and to Gen. Markos Vafthiades, chieftain of the Greek rebel forces.

With the Communist government of Petru Groza firmly in the saddle in Bucharest, the Romanian army under complete Soviet control and the Romanian population disarmed, there is much doubt that it would call for some 30 divisions of Red troops to prevent or smother any feared uprising of the Romanian people.

SHOW OF SUPPORT

It is presumed that if such movements of troops have been made and that others are going on, the motivation goes beyond any forceful measures to keep Romania under Communist control —that the inspiring of confidence in Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Albania and the Greek rebels that Soviet Russia stands behind them, in the event of rumored American military intervention in Greece, is the main purpose.

The troop movements also may be an answer to American and British warnings against recognition by any government of Gen. Markos' Greek rebel regime.

Such recognition would give Gen. Markos the international right to conclude alliances which, of course, he would immediately negotiate with Moscow and the Soviet bloc of states. It would make legal, too, the furnishings of arms, munitions and equipment to him.

Moscow's move, if true, underlines once again the tension that exists and how quickly any slip in the Truman doctrine adventure as applied to Greece could precipitate dreaded World War III.

Housing Probers Warn Profiteers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP) —Prosecution of get-rich-quick operators who exploit the nation's housing shortage to gain huge profits was urged today by Sen. Flanders (R.) of Vermont, chairman of a Senate-House committee on housing.

In a 185-page report, the Vermont Senator said Congress should instruct the Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission "to prosecute and police vigorously" any persons connected with the housing industry "who engage in practices in restraint of trade."

Flanders told a reporter information on certain dealers allegedly seeking to corner the nail market already has been turned over to the F. T. C., and declared:

"We're scaring a lot of these operators out of the market by this investigation."

Shooting Death Of Vt. Girl Probed

BURLINGTON, Vt., Jan. 19—An autopsy was ordered today in the death of Miss Mary Lee Howe, 22, who died at Fletcher Hospital with a bullet wound in the head.

A familiar figure on the campus of the University of Vermont here, she was a clerk in the university store and commuted daily to the farm home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howe in South Hero, 18 miles away.

The girl was alone in the kitchen when a single shot was heard. Her mother ran from upstairs and found the girl on the floor with a bullet wound in the left temple.

The girl died in the hospital here within two hours without regaining consciousness.

Three Flee $3500 Fire In Dedham Factory

Three employes fled to the street today when a blaze, starting from oil overflowing from a heater, destroyed the interior of the William H. Nickerson Co., Pottery lane, Dedham, a steel products firm, causing damage of $3500 to the one-story brick structure.

Firemen, hampered by deep snow and frozen hydrants, were forced to carry hose 200 yards to the scene from the nearest workable water source. One of the employes was identified as Ernest Riley.

JAPS FIGHT SMOKE RACKET

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE UNITED NATIONS HAS COME UP with a new gimmick. Mr. Trygve Lie, its secretary general, has again found a soft spot to extend the extraterritorial rights of the United Nations upon American soil. It is extraterritoriality for the press. The UN assumption apparently is that any person, allegedly assigned to the United Nations as a newspaperman, a reporter or photographer, may enter the United States at will, may remain here at will, may travel all over the country, with or without the consent of the United States.

In the particular cases which focused attention on the new gimmick, one of these so-called journalists came into the country on a student visa, the other asserted his profession. Both were admittedly Communists.

Both sought to remain in the United States indefinitely and contrary to the wishes of the American government because they had established a press relationship with the United Nations.

Neither limited his relationship to the United Nations. Both lived in quarters situated in the United States; purchased their needs in the United States; found their amusements in this country, and moved about it with freedom as though the American government welcomed their presence. But they were not wanted. Actually the American government tried to evacuate them.

EXTRATERRITORIALITY is a vicious device that readily lends itself to abuse. Just before I arrived in Shanghai, a number of prostitutes lived there on Soochow rd. They were American girls, recruited principally in the Middle West.

They lived in China under extraterritoriality; that meant that no Chinese authority could do anything about their presence there, and apparently no American authority objected to the flag of this country flying over and protecting brothels.

Finally, an American district attorney, Arthur Bassett, who was sent to the scene, ordered the flags removed and threatened the girls with the law. Many of them then married, for limited purposes, beachcombers of varying nationalities with the object of regaining extraterritorial rights.

It was not extraordinary for Chinese and denationalized persons to purchase protection from European and Latin American consular agents who sold extraterritorial rights, making a fortune thereby.

Opium and cocaine smugglers, of whom there were a considerable number, profited by this practice, the Chinese authorities having no control over them in their own country.

THE UNITED NATIONS is empowered to manage its own affairs, and by treaty and act of Congress the right of access is provided those who have business with it. But no treaty exists and no act of Congress exists granting those who have business with the United Nations similar privileges within the United States.

Let them go to the United Nations and stay there! If the United Nations has no room for them or is unwilling or unable to provide for them, that still does not entitle such persons free occupation of American soil.

The United States has not abrogated sovereignty in favor of the United Nations nor has Congress transferred to Mr. Lie or his associates the administration of our immigration laws.

In the case of Mather et al vs. Cunningham (1909) Judge Spear stated:

". . . The ownership of the soil, therefore, controls the establishment of all local laws. Without consent of the owner, no extraterritorial law can be enacted within an independent jurisdiction, or extended to it . . ."

REFERRING to the operation of extraterritoriality, Judge Spear said:

". . . Whatever laws may have been extended by Congress to Shanghai are operative, not upon American soil, but upon the territory of the Chinese empire. How do these laws reach there? By treaty, permission of the emperor."

This pertinent reference applies fully to the United Nations extraterritorial privileges. They can only exist, outside the narrow area designated to that body in New York, by consent of the owner of the soil adjacent to it, namely, the Legislature of the State of New York. The United Nations cannot legislate for the State of New York and Trygve Lie cannot determine who is to live in that State. Nor can he legislate for the United States; that function is for Congress.

Nor does he control immigration to the United States. This country must be tough about it — we shall have the scum of the world entering our country on diplomatic passports.

Shaw Raps Boost In Capital Tax

LONDON, Jan. 19 (AP) — George Bernard Shaw, voicing his opposition today to increased agitation for a tax on British capital, warned that "a Socialist government cannot do everything."

In a letter to the London Times, Shaw wrote:

"What it (the government) leaves to private enterprise should not be grudged and sabotaged, but encouraged and aided to reach the highest possible efficiency."

French Communists Hold Seats in City Council Vote

PARIS, Jan. 19 (INS)—French Communists retained their 13 City Council seats in an election in the Malakoff suburb of Paris while Gen. De Gaulle's party lost one place.

The municipal balloting was interpreted by political observers as an indication the Communists have not lost strength in the capital's working class districts despite the November strike and subsequent splitting of the labor movement.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Youse kin have yer pin-up girls an' cover girls! I jest discovered the most intriguin' kid of the year an' I'm beatin' the drum fer him taday! He's the kid wat's been picked to bring the March of Dimes ta everybody's attention this week an' next! He's a corker, an' believe me, his smile is worth a dime of any guy's money! Wen ya think that dimes from everybody in the country kin bring smiles ta the faces of poor kids like him wat's been sufferin' from infantile paralysis, I say the cause is well worth diggin' down fer. So—every time ya see a March of Dimes container, stick a dime in it. Yer dough will make life worth livin' for lots of kids like him! Speakin' of livin', you jest ain't livin' if you ain't been attendin' the afternoon sessions in my Grille. It's the only place down town ware ya kin wander in, have some good food an' then shake it down by dancin' fer an hour or so. Dancin' is good fer exhersize an' good fer the soul. It's the poetry of motion, or it's supposed ta be. Kin I help it if yer clumsy? Plan ta come in after shoppin' or before ya go on the nite shift. Then you'll discover why the gayest gay afternoon an' nite spot in town is Ort's Grille, 25 Essex St., Boston. Advt.

Smart Set Winter Carnival

By BETTY ALDEN

YOU AND I MAY BE hoping for a January thaw but there are folks in Walpole happy about all this snow and ice. They're the Country Skating Club members who are planning their annual winter sports carnival on Jan. 31 and for the first time in years have reasonable assurance there will be plenty of snow and ice for the colorful exhibitions.

The carnival will take place at Elmcrest, the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Turner in Walpole. There will be cross country skiing and snow shoeing, figure skating exhibitions by champion ice stars, speed skating and hockey. Also a contest to pick the Snow Queen from among the young ladies attending the carnival, provided they register as entrants. The Snow Queen will be given a fur coat and crowned at the Winter Sports Ball that evening at Blackburn Memorial.

Proceeds of the event benefit the educational fund of the Country Skating Club which for many years was known as the Skridsco Club. Leap Year brides now living at the Franklin Square House will be versed on the ABC's of homemaking after a series of lectures known as the Brides' Course that opens this evening.

A party for brides-to-be will officially launch the course in one of the spacious Franklin Square drawing rooms this evening. Miss Olive Wilbur, social director, will be in charge. The Brides' class will cover the household arts from buying and cooking food to baby care and home decorating.

Leonard Bernstein to Lead Symphony in Four Concerts

The Boston Symphony Orchestra will give its 13th pair of concerts of the season in Symphony Hall next Friday afternoon and Saturday evening, the third concert of the Cambridge series in Sanders Theater on Thursday evening next, the fourth concert of the Sunday afternoon series in Symphony Hall on Sunday and the third concert of the Tuesday evening series next week.

Leonard Bernstein, as guest conductor of the orchestra while Dr. Koussevitzky is taking his mid-season vacation, will conduct each concert. In Cambridge and in the Friday and Saturday pair he will present Beethoven's Symphony No. 2 in D major and the new Fourth Symphony by David Diamond, which, written by commission of the Koussevitzky Music Foundation and dedicated to Mme. Natalie Koussevitzky, is to have its first performances. It is a short symphony, in three movements.

The concluding number will be Stravinsky's "Petrouchka." Mr. Bernstein will conduct the entire score of the ballet in concert form. The piano solo will be played by Lukas Foss.

On Sunday afternoon the program will consist of Beethoven's Second Symphony, Ravel's Choreographic Poem "La Valse," and Stravinsky's "Petrouchka." The program for the Tuesday evening concert will consist of Stravinsky's "Petrouchka," Beethoven's Overture to "Fidelio" and Second Symphony, and Weber's Overture to "Der Freischutz."

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 19—Two weeks down and a fortnight to go. And is everybody happy? Is self-denial beginning to pay off? Are those scales tilting their happy hands to a figure that comes within the scope of your hopes and anticipation?

They should, by now . . . if you've been faithful to the rules . . . if you haven't snitched . . . if you haven't dilly-dallied with the basic principles of healthful dieting to reduce.

This 28-day NEW LOOK DIET has been purposely formulated by my doctor-husband not to take weight off you so fast that your health will suffer or that putting it back on will be an easy chore. It has been compiled to reduce you gradually . . . so that your desire for the right kind of foods will be increased . . . so your will to refrain from foods that are simply tongue-tempters but serve no other purpose than to satisfy a sweet tooth will be intensified.

DIET CAN BE REPEATED

Which means, of course, that when this 28-day NEW LOOK DIET has been concluded you need not conclude your interest in taking off more overweight pounds if the weight you yearn for has not been reached.

This diet series can be repeated again and again until you've reached the scale figure-correct and clothes-perfect for you

Since this is not a starvation diet . . . not an indulgence in fad food denial . . . but one which contains all the daily essentials . . . it works no hardship on either the body efficiency, the health quotient, or the energy if pursued for a repeat performance.

Word reaches me here from my assistants . . . from communications that have come into my office . . . that this diet series has brought richer returns than many had dared to expect. Which is wonderful news . . . the kind we knew was bound to result if women anxious to achieve a sylph-like curve were adamant in their will to succeed.

MODELS SUCCEEDED

Slim silhouettes pay off in hand-some dividends to the lovelies who perpetuate their clothes-horse lithesomeness and keep it ever free from an extra pound or the slightest bulge. For most of the Manhattan models who've been parading their anatomical fascination for years . . . and which we've been viewing with more than a critical fashion eye . . . it's been a hard-fought and well-merited battle won. Because it is their bread and butter . . . They can't afford to toss security to the winds.

Of course, not every mother or her daughter can have a fashion model's sleek figure. But she can simulate as near a likeness as possible . . . although a fashion model's figure is one of nature's greatest achievements. But if modelling is a gal's profession and she wants to stay in business . . . she knows that the figure divine can't get too pronounced or curved. If it does . . . her runway days are over, finis.

WEEKLY CHECK

And so the models take their body measurements every week . . . as faithfully and regularly as they check their assignments and as you and I have a manicure or a hairdo setting. We've talked with more than one model . . . and each one dittos the expressed sentiments of the other. Incidentally, many models have turned to other work because of the new look which demands, even from them, the slimmest possible figure dimensions

So, how about us? We've dropped 10 pounds in the past two weeks . . . no fooling. How about you?

In tomorrow's Boston American, we'll indicate your proper weight in relation to your age, height and build.

OH, NO, DON'T!—Woe unto the girl who lets misbehaving fingers take root of a blemish and squeeze the pimple through the skin. She's courting complexion trouble for fair . . . and a single, lone pimple may beget half dozen others if forced unwillingly through the skin. So, never, never, never squeeze the pimple. Instead pursue a well-regulated corrective routine to rid the complexion of these nightmarish peskies.

Make-up Skin Treatment Sure to Curtail Pimples

HALF THE MODERN YOUNG business and college girls are sleeping beauties when it comes to knowing why their skin rebels in sporadic eruptions. When a pimple appears . . . and, usually at the most inopportune time . . . we can just hear the girl wailing: "Why does this happen to me?"

Well, pimples happen for any one of several reasons. Perhaps you consume sweets, fats and starches not wisely, but too well. What, you're not following our diet series? Perhaps you are subject to emotional strain. Perhaps . . . and this is the most frequent "perhaps" . . . you think your skin is clean, but it isn't.

We certainly don't want to add to your pimple-distress . . . but we do want to tell you that pimples, if neglected, can easily become a more serious skin condition . . . acne. And you don't want that, do you?

Your pores are very fussy things . . . They demand attention. And if you don't give them the correct attention they take their revenge by clogging up, inflaming and more often than not, sprouting pimples. You simply MUST get every vestige of impurity out of those pores if you want them to behave . . . you must use the right preparations in the right way and not slip up because you are "too tired" or for any other excuse.

PLEASE DON'T!

And never force a pimple through the skin. Why? Because the pore is tiny . . . but the pimple . . . in and under the skin . . . is usually from three to five times the size of what you see on the surface. Compare it to an iceberg. It may be huge above the water . . . but you can be sure more than three-quarters of it lies below the surface. When you squeeze a pimple only a little of the secretion works through, you paralyze the pore in the center and throw back the pus so it spreads into the next cell and lo! you have some more pimples.

Cleansing with a foamy liquid lather . . . massage with a medicated overnight ointment . . . protection with a makeup film foundation worn during the day without face powder . . . that's the routine endorsed for the girl suffering from this condition. Incidentally . . . the beauty pioneer who for 35 years has made a study of young skin . . . its problems and redemption . . . is in town this week to communicate her comprehensive and astounding knowledge to Boston women. Why not visit her?—R. M.

For the name of this wake-up skin treatment for the "sleeping beauty," phone the Beauty Dept., LIberty 2-4000, any day except Sunday, or write Ruth Muggiebee, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

No Tip Here

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Two young women who have been lifelong friends recently started a tearoom in our neighborhood . . . most of us know them very well, as we all went to school together and have been friends ever since. At first they just ran the tearoom, but now there is such a rush during the meal-times that often they wait on table. Should we leave a tip on the table as we would for any other waitress?

H. L.

No. Anyone who knows these two young women or anyone who knows that they are the owners of the tearoom, should not leave a tip for them.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

SOCIAL HINT—Group conversation should be general. At least make an effort to mention some subject on which all present can talk. If the conversation turns to persons and events unknown to some present, try to give the "outsiders" an inkling of the subject under discussion. In this way, they can intelligently follow the general talk trend.

Let's Eat

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN

LIFE WITH FATHER began in the state of Maine. He was a native son and his food preferences had considerable influence on the family meals prepared by my Connecticut-born mother. We were a large family, and one of our favorite dinners was a roast stuffed baby halibut—seven or eight pounds of deliciousness—invariably served on the huge turkey platter. There was plenty of fish gravy, steaming Maine potatos, diced turnips, dripping with butter, homemade spiced beet pickles; and for dessert we had apple pandowdy.

"Who ever had lobster?" asked the Chief. "We had plenty of lobster on special occasions, but for a big family dinner we liked the best fish.

NOT LARGE FISH

"I appreciate very much the thriftiness and stability of this meal," the chief went on, "but a seven-pound fish is a very large baby for one family, don't you?"

Not for our family. There were seven of us and often guests, so it was usually not much left over. What there was we would serve scalloped ham sauce next day for lunch usually with left-over peas and vegetables and into hash for breakfast.

A SMALLER SIZE

"Of course our dinner we can use a smaller size fish for the roast," the chief. "Fortunately, this country is very rich in fish; it can be obtained everywhere, fresh or frozen, and it is an excellent alternative to meat."

"Not only an 'alternative' but a real substitute for meat," I amended "with fine fish protens equal to meat in food value. And nearly every locality has its own fish supply. Besides halibut, we can roast cod, haddock, blue fish, red snapper and many other kinds."

And the beautiful thing about the fish is that he grows up all by himself," added the chef. "He gets his own food from the water. He does not eat any grain." An important point in these days of grain conservation.

TOMORROW'S DINNER

Tomato Bouillon Crisp Wafers
Roast Stuffed Fish with Gravy
Pickles
Flaky Potatoes
Buttered Parsnips
Apple Pandowdy
Lemon Cream Sauce
Coffee or Tea Milk (children)
All measurements are level
Recipes serve four

TOMATO BOUILLON

Melt and slightly brown 1 tsp. sugar in a good-sized saucepan. Add 3 cups boiling water, 2 tbsp. minced onion, 2 tbsp. minced carrot, 1 small bay leaf, and 1 (No. 2½) can tomatoes; simmer 20 minutes. Add 1½ tsp. beef extract. Season with ½ tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper and ½ tsp. Worcestershire, and rub through a fine strainer. Serve very hot.

ROAST STUFFED FISH WITH GRAVY

Order a choice of a (3 to 4-lb.) cod, haddock, sea trout, bass, white fish, catfish or red snapper.

Split and clean as for boiling. Wash and rub with a little salt. Place skin side down on a double sheet of oiled parchment paper laid in a well-oiled roasting pan.

Mix together 1 tbsp. salad oil and 1 tbsp. lemon juice; rub the fish inside and out with it.

Make a bread stuffing well seasoned with minced onion and marjoram or thyme. Put inside the fish in a thick layer. Make the edge of the stuffing smooth, but allow it to show. Do not sew up the fish.

Place thin strips of fat salt pork on top. Bake in a hot oven, 400 F. for 10 min.; then lower the heat to 350 F. and bake about 40 min. longer, or until tender. Baste 3 times with ½ tbsp. salad oil mixed with ¼ c. hot water. Make a fish gravy from the drippings in the pan.

APPLE PANDOWDY

Peel, core and slice 6 tart cooking apples or enough to make 1 qt. Add ¼ tsp. salt, ½ tsp. nutmeg, and 1 scant c. granulated sugar. Stir ¼ c. water or left-over fruit juice of any kind, and transfer to a 3-pt. shallow baking dish.

Cover with a rich baking powder biscuit crust, homemade or packaged; press it down over the edge of the dish. Slash in the center in three places for steam-escape. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 to 400 F. about 40 min. Serve hot, plain, or with top cream or lemon cream sauce.

Lemon Cream Sauce: Beat 1 tsp. lemon juice into 1 raw egg yolk. Stir in 1 tbsp. honey, and add ½ c. soured cream.

TRICK OF THE CHEF

For a nutty taste, sprinkle wheat germ over the lemon cream sauce on the pandowdy. Very attractive!

Hostess' Favorite Recipe

By MARTHA LEE

MRS. KATHRYN BELE NILES of Chicago, internationally recognized authority on poultry products cookery, is in Boston for the 100th Boston Poultry Show. In discussing her forthcoming cooking demonstrations this week, she said, "You don't know how difficult is is for a person like myself, who spends so much time on poultry and egg recipes, to pick out a favorite. But here's a recipe that I think is pretty slick!"

CHICKEN AND OYSTER BAKE

1 2½ to 3½ lb. young chicken, cut up
1½ cups cracker crumbs
½ tsp. salt or more
1 cup fat
1 cup thin cream
½ to 1 pint oysters

Roll chicken and oysters in salt and cracker crumbs. Cook chicken in half the fat until browned and partially cooked, about ½ hour. Arrange chicken and oysters in greased casserole fitting oysters between pieces of chicken. Heat cream and remaining fat to near boiling and pour over chicken. Top with any leftover crumbs. Bake covered in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) until tender, about 1 hour. Uncover the last half of cooking to brown the top. If mixture appears dry during cooking, add milk from time to time. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Tried-out chicken fat may be used as part of the fat if available. Quantity of salt depends upon size of chicken and quantity of oysters.

Wife Veteran Divorced Must Resume Normal Life

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IN THE LAST ANALYSIS, every individual sinks or swims through his own effort, or lack of it. If he must stay afloat only when he is held up by somebody else, sooner or later that person will become unable or unwilling to hold on to him any longer, and he will inevitably drown. Nor can the one who held his head above the water so long be blamed for the final tragic outcome.

To change the metaphor to another equally appropriate one might say that no mother wants, or expects to go on carrying her child in her arms all its life. She expects it to stand on its own feet and learn to walk alone. If it never becomes able to do this, there is obviously something abnormal about it.

Which brings us right back where we started, to the fact that, if they are to live normal lives, human beings must learn to stand alone not only physically, but mentally, morally and normal in every way.

EXTRAVAGANT circle forms the skirt of the dress for this very smart two-piece costume. The pure silk print of white honeycomb on chocolate brown . . . effectively draped by Paul Parnes into a cap-sleeved dress . . . is also used to line the simple, hip-hugging jacket of matching brown wool. This designer favors the full skirt . . . found time and again in his collection. — RUTH MUGGLEBEE.

SHUNS NORMAL LIFE

I am afraid that the young woman about whom a "Worried Sister" writes me is one of those who must be classed as abnormally childish.

Her story is admittedly a sad one. Happily married for a number of years until her husband went to war, she was faced with the situation that confronted many young wives when their husbands returned from service. That is, the man with whom she had thought she would live happily throughout her life inexplicably asked for a divorce.

Since her divorce, nearly a year and a half ago, this girl has steadily refused to take up normal life again. "All she wants to do," her distressed sister writes, "is to work and sleep. We have an awful time to get her out of the house."

The sister also says there is a very nice young man who wants to marry the girl, but she insists she can never love anyone again. "The only answer we can get from her," says her sister, "is that she doesn't have a heart any more."

NO CAREER OF GRIEF

She must know that, by continuing to act as she is doing, she is distressing them greatly. If she were really concerned about their welfare, she would make up her mind to take an active, cheerful part with them in normal life.

It seems to me, too, that my correspondent stepped pulling her sister and started expecting her to behave like an adult. Everyone must let go of the past and move on to the future and this girl must do that, too, unless she is willing to become a psychological burden to those who love her.

Ideal Winter Color Combination

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THERE'S nothing like a gray sky and air full of the threat of snow to make women wish for something colorful to wear. They want it conservatively colored but another costume in Winter black or brown would be just too much. Deep royal blue makes a good substitute and when this Winter blue is combined with pure yellow the effect is cheerful enough to brighten the dullest day.

Knize combines these colors in the sports suit sketched today. Such a suit, made in warm Shetland wool, cut comfortably full in the jacket, buttoned high to the neck, is ideal for Winter's deepest cold. But when Winter is on the decline in a month or two, when Spring begins to soften the air, this suit will be just right in weight and color to wear under a loose topcoat or to wear without any coat.

The skirt of the suit is blue. It is cut without excess flare. The jacket is yellow; the arrow motifs are stitched in blue. The pockets are flapped like the outer edge of an arrow. It buttons rather high to the neck and turns over to make a small roll collar.

THERE'S THE HOUSE..AND JACKSON LYING THERE. HE MAY BE ALIVE...I'M GOING TO GET HIM!
IN BRIGHT MOONLIGHT? DON'T BE A FOOL, MAN! YOU'LL BE A PERFECT TARGET!
I TELL YOU, SHE'S A MAD WOMAN!
AND MY BABY IN THERE WITH HER? I MUST GET HIM OUT!
SHE'D KILL YOU, DOLLY! PAGAN, KEEP THIS KID HERE, IF YOU HAVE TO SIT ON HER!
THEY'LL NEVER TAKE ME ALIVE.. AND HERE THEY COME!

SURPRISE PARTY

(A Complete Short Story)

By OLGA A. ROSMANITH

GRAMP WAS VISITING at our house through November the year his cottage burned down. It was Mom's birthday on the 15th and Gramp asked her what she fancied for the occasion.

Principal Characters
MOM, who usually has to be the kitchen slave on her birthdays, and GRAMP, a very handy man to have around the house.

Mom considered. We were sitting on the porch and she looked away to the cottonwoods turning to gold coins thrown in the air against the shimmering blue walls of South Mountain.

"Such peace," she sighed. "It's everything I want. To feast my eyes and feel the gentle air. No party to cook for, no loud voices, no dishwashing, no nothing."

"That's easily granted," said Gramp. He got out of the rocker, stretched to limber up for his walk in the desert and whistled for his black dog, Lightnin'. I went down to the crossroads because it was time for the mail to come in. There was a letter for me. On the envelope was written "IMPORTANT. DON'T LET YOUR MOM SEE THIS." So I read it and put it in my pocket.

It was from Aunt Ellie and it had a $10 bill in it. It was written just like she talked.

"I hope, child, you have enough sense by now not to make a mess of these instructions. A boy your age——"

It was all about how she and Aunt Addie and Uncle Porter and Cousin Alice and her husband and a lot more were going to give Mom a surprise party on her birthday, since it was three years since Pa died, and before that they always did so.

It ended: "Don't worry about the meat. We will bring turkeys. But buy everything else we need with this money."

I went home and dried the dishes for Mom, then I walked through the date plantation to the irrigation canal and showed Gramp the letter when I met him returning from the desert.

"Suffering catfish!" he yelled. "The things that woman can cook up without even a mind!" That makes a big crowd, not counting you, me and your mother."

He glared at a big saguaro cactus across the canal like it had contradicted him.

"Where's that money she mentions?"

I gave him the $10 bill. He screwed it up and made to throw it in the canal, then he put it in his shirt pocket.

GRAMP KEEPS MOM OUT OF KITCHEN

"I'll take care of the shopping with this. Do like she says, Son. Don't tell your mother."

The day before Mom's birthday, Gramp drove to Phoenix, came home with a big package and hid it away. Lightnin' likes the cold water in the pan under the ice box so Gramp brought him into the kitchen. Mom told me to put the knives and forks down while she cooked the steak. She said it was the first time she could remember a birthday coming on her without making her own cake, and it was a marvel to look forward to no dishwashing and no cooking.

"Don't count on it," said Gramp. "You're only eight miles out of town. That's an easy mark for friends that figure they'd like a feast and a day in the country."

Mom laughed. "Oh, no, I have a hunch the luck's with me. Besides I haven't any food laid in to cook for them."

Gramp rolled up his bright blue eyes at this innocence, but put his fingers to his mouth to signal me to keep quiet.

After supper I went to the Mexican settlement under the cottonwoods and got the basket Petro had made for the picnic outfit I had been collecting for Mom. It was green, purple and blue, with her initials woven in it. I fixed the matching plastic dishes and vacuum flask in it when I went to bed and I got up early to put it at her place on the table in the breakfast nook.

Gramp had been up hours before me. The kitchen door was blocked by a chair with a big card on it painted: "Happy Birthday Wet Paint on Kitchen Floor. Keep Off of It All Day."

Well, Mom had said she wanted new paint on the floor.

I went out the front door and round the back and there was another card hanging on the nail with Lightnin's lead:

"Wet Paint Underfoot. Keep Out."

I heard Gramp chuckle. He was on the porch with the bridge table, fixing coffee and boiled eggs on a bright two-burner portable electric cooker. Then Mom came out, trying to look pleased

"It was thoughtful of you, Pa, but I had a hundred things planned to do today in the kitchen. And where did this come from?"

Gramp says black lies are awful and white lies are to be avoided by keeping your mouth shut, but pink lies make a little icing on the cake of living.

"The stove," he said, "is a present from your sister-in-law Ellie. She wanted to surprise you with a contribution to the ease of living."

Mom was amazed and delighted. "I didn't know she had it in her." She said it every half hour or so all day.

I fetched the picnic set and showed Mom all the things the people who make them for stores don't think of. Then Gramp brought out a new portable radio that would play at home, or in the car, or out on the desert or just about anywhere.

It was a perfect day, the air balmy and white clouds like lambs asleep in the still blue sky. Mom sat on the porch like she planned to do and listened to the new radio and rocked and rocked. There was a shine in her eyes like tears while she looked at the sunlight pouring like a gold river down the sides of South Mountain. I had flutters inside, wondering if Gramp had written to stop Aunt Ellie or if they were still coming.

They came. Two carloads of friends and relations turned into our lane soon after 12.

CARLOADS OF FRIENDS AND RELATIONS

Mom was sure enough surprised and Gramp acted like he was.

"Vamoose," he said to me when he saw them coming. "Take some comics and amuse yourself at the back of the chicken house."

After a while Lightnin' came loping round and tugged at my arm so I knew I was wanted. I went round and joined the party milling under the cottonwood in the front yard. It was settled we were all going over to Camelback Inn to give Mom a birthday party. Gramp had called up to reserve tables and let them know an army was coming.

Aunt Ellie gave me a sour look and opened her mouth, but Gramp whispered: "My mistake, Ellie. I'm that forgetful. Don't know the day o' the week, don't recall which year even. Old age, you know. Don't blame the boy for it."

It was a good dinner and Mom said she had the most wonderful birthday. She didn't recall when she enjoyed herself so much. Joining in the talk and jokes and her feet weren't hurting her and she wasn't hot with worry and cooking. She thanked everybody. They went on home from Phoenix and when we were alone she said to Gramp: "Happy birthday to you really did mean this time I had a happy birthday."

Only one thing nearly spoiled it.

When we got home Gramp let Lightnin' out of his bedroom and the big strong dog ran straight to the kitchen, knocked the chair aside, pushed to the pan of ice-cold water that dripped from the icebox.

"Oh! Oh!" shouted Mom. "Stop him! My lovely new floor! Don't let him track it all over the house."

Gramp kept calm. He stood packing down his pipe looking at us with that mischievous wry look he has.

"Just don't seem to co-ordinate any more. No paint on yet. Fixed the cards and then forgot it." He scratched his head to make it work better. "Come to think, I forgot to buy the paint. I'll tend to that tomorrow morning."

"You——" began Mom. Then a light came in her eyes. She burst out laughing and we all followed Lightnin' into the kitchen.

A.A.U. Waste: Stubborn NFL: Harvard Choice:

Austen Lake

By AUSTEN LAKE

I THINK I SEE a similarity in the first practise of the A. A. U.'s Olympic hockey pretenders at Princeton and the time that Max Schmeling did his ghostly training for a non-existent match with champion Jimmy Braddock.

You remember how Maxie claimed a priority over Joe Louis to jolt Braddock loose from his title and went through the motions of bag punching, shadow boxing and road jogs on advice of his lawyer. But it was just a lot of wasted energy and expense which earned nothing but wide spread ridicule. He wasn't going to fight anybody and neither are the A. A. U. hockey pretenders going to play anybody, or at least for the Olympic title.

But that doesn't deter the Olympic moguls from spending upwards of $15,000 to haul 15 players, coaches, trainers and deadheads to Switzerland by air and hotel and feed them for a month. This sum is donated by U. S. sportsmen or appropriated from the fees and dues of the amateur athletes and spent at the whim of the A. A. U. daddies to satisfy a personal grievance.

The Prive of Stubbornness

REFUSAL OF THE NATIONAL Football League to recognize its rival, the All-American Conference, is another example of costly stubbornness of the dash papas who have been digging the price of carrying their financial flops out of their own living flesh. Last season, for example, Ted Collins dropped another $100,000 with his Boston Yanks, pyramiding his losses over four years to about $250,000.

Collins' weekly payroll runs around $20,000 a game and his annual expenses, before he can count any profit, is $400,000. That's progibitive nut and is due to the thick-headed obtusity in the owners' determination to freeze out competition by bidding up players' wages. The end inevitably will force both leagues to co-operate or go into the hands of receivers or have their sugar papas quit in disgust. The owners of two 1947 NFL teams have thrown in the Turkish token of surrender already, the Lions and Dodgers.

BARBARA ANN SCOTT, the honey-haired Canadian skate balarina who has rewon her world figure skating title at Prague, can have $25,000 to $35,000 any time she wishes to sign a contract with the Walter Brown-Roy Shipstad combine of ice extravanzas. The proposed plan is to build a new glacial show around her, a la Sonja Henie, and split the profits.

Miss Scott, just 18, is said to favor the notion of turning professional, but may be deterred from doing so because she is a ward of the Canadian government and, as a minor, subject to the dictates of Ottawa, which feels that she will be more of a national asset as an amateur than a pro.

NEWS PORTRAIT OF Owen Correll, Jr., now at Holy Cross, returns to mind the scene of his sire, when Ownie, Sr., was heralded as the greatest college pitcher of all time. That was the '36 afternoon at Fenway Park when Ty Cobb was managing the Tigers and he elected to give Ownie his inaugural unveiling as a major leaguer.

It was a blue and gold June afternoon and the stands were jam-packed. But sad to relate Ira Flagstead punched Ownie's first pitch down the third base line and the rest was a rout. Indeed Carroll never recovered his breath and after a season or so was lost to sight. The stuff that was so potent in college circles was just tapioca pudding to the pros. Yet it doesn't detract from his legend and Carroll is still reckoned "nonparallel" at Mt. St. James.

Harvard Nominates the "Chief"

A DETERMINED EFFORT is being made by Harvard men to have "Chief" Boston named varsity football coach. Recently the Harvard squad circulated and signed a petition to place the well-liked freshman mentor in charge, and now awaits the return and judgment of Director Bill Bingham. Boston's qualification, say his advocates, is that he does not insert a nozzle into the mouths of his kid athletes and hose down a lot of intricate knowledge in big indigestible doses. He feeds them a few plays, making sure the boys chew them thoroughly before spooning up another snack.

That, to my mind, is the secret of every successful coach conceding the limitations of the boy mind, giving the scholars no more than they can understand and gradually adding new layers of polish until the machine, within its physical limitations, is the best possible. Too often college coaches fail because they burden their players with intricate learning, 50 plays with a split-second time table in which, if any of the 11 men stub a toe, the synchronized duties of the whole are wrecked. I don't know yet whether Harlow jumped off the job or was pushed, but my information is that he, who was conversant with all the higher mathematics, disappeared because (1) he became testy and irrational from ill health and (2) failed to fit the tempo of his teaching to the understanding of the boy who, (3) lost confidence in him . . .

HOW GOOD IS GIL DODDS, the Flying Parson who ran 12 races last year and won 12, and who, at the venerable age of 29, is launching his Olympic drive in the K. of C. games at the Garden on Saturday night? Jack Ryder, whose optimism seldom overreaches the truth, says Dodds is "better than ever" and has the capacity to improve his 4:06.4 indoor record (1944). Dodds' mile times last winter, after a two-year layoff, were 4:09.1; 4:09.2; 4:08.9; 4:12.7; 4:07.1; 4:10.6; 4:13.6; 4:06.5 and 4:06.8.

Pep Favored Over Angelo

Willie Pep, world's featherweight boxing champion, will battle Joey Angelo, Providence, in a non-title 10-round bout at the Garden tonight. Pep, champion since 1942 when he outpointed Chalky Wright in 15 rounds at New York, is still a young fighter. Willie has been through great ring wars but at this writing he is only 25 years of age.

Willie has always been a great boxer. He also has a fair punch. The Hartford titlist will enter the ring with Angelo tonight as a somewhat heavy favorite.

Angelo, the under dog, has had two great wins in Boston during the past six weeks. He beat Dennis "Pat" Brady at the Garden early in December. Then he came back later in the month to score a startling and decisive win over Bob Montgomery in the same ring. Joey's win over the "Bobcat" caused Montgomery's retirement from boxing. Bon had twice been a world's lightweight champion.

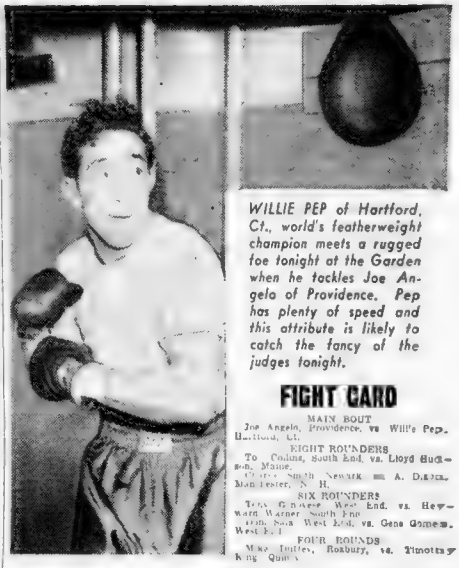
"I feel pretty confident now," said Angelo as he put the finishing touches on his training at the Garden gym. "Sure Willie Pep is the best of the lot but he will be giving away weight and he has not been too impressive in his last two fights, one with Biesca and the other with McAllister."

Pep did his training at Kelley and Hayes gym on Hanover st. Willie went through his boxing stints like the real little champion that he is.

"My last two ones were tough bouts," he said. "Sure, maybe I am slowing a bit but I'll be good with Angelo. I need a few rough bouts to get my timing."

Tommy Collins, the rip-snorting little featherweight from the South End, will headline the semi-final bout. Tommy has not fought here since he disposed of Earl Roys a month ago. Tommy, one of the most promising youngster fighters on the local horizon, will fight Lloyd Hudson, Maine.

JACK CONWAY, JR.



WILLIE PEP of Hartford, Ct., world's featherweight champion meets a rugged foe tonight at the Garden when he tackles Joe Angelo of Providence. Pep has plenty of speed and this attribute is likely to catch the fancy of the judges tonight.

BIRDIE TEBBETTS

TO TRADE TEBBETTS?

Just as George "Birdie" Tebbetts, hustling Red Sox catcher, was about to pack his grips, preparatory to leaving for Hot Springs, Ark, where he planned to take the 21-bath course he was notified by the Red Sox office to stand by.

Which would seem to indicate that the popular Nashua, N. H. player is about to figure in a trade some time this week. Tebbetts has made himself solid with the Red Sox fans. They like his type of hustle and certainly he proved a robust hitter. His Nashua friends venturing a guess, figure Jim Hegan of Cleveland, a Lynn boy, will come here in the event of a Tebbetts trade.

All-Scholastic Eleven Dined Tonight

By BOB WALDO

Twelve Eastern Mass. high school football stars will be the toast of the town tonight when they gather at the Hotel Lenox (6:15) for the annual Boston Evening American banquet to honor its 1947 All-Scholastic team.

For most of these boys, tonight's festival will be the last fling in school football circles before heading for greater fame in college ranks.

Heading this array of gridiron talent will be, honorary captain of this year's squad, Harry Agganis of Lynn Classical.

Agganis, who has become known as "The Arm," is considered by many as the most outstanding athlete reared in this section in several decades. A brilliant passer and quarterback, Harry has led Classical through three of its most successful football campaigns.

Others who will be feted for their accomplishments are: Bill Whelan (Lynn English), Clark Hallisey (Brockton), Ray Jarzynka (Salem), Ken Keating (Gloucester), Jerry Keane (Brookline), Ken Kinchla (Medford), Bill Jennings (Boston English), Paul Mabry (Boston Latin), George Bullard (Lynn Classical), Ed Leo (Everett), and Dick Raia (Arlington).

These are the boys who all of Massachusetts will be expecting big things of on the college gridiron in a few years.

As a reward for being chosen to this select official "All" team, the boys will be awarded gold footballs and the official Evening American's All-Scholastic jackets, from the James W. Brine Co.

On the evening's entertainment program are three of New England's greatest sports figures. Denny Myers of Boston College, "Buff" Donelli of Boston University, and Boley Dancewicz of the pro Boston Yanks will speak on a few serious, as well as humorous problems that will face the boys as they prepare to enter college

Sold-Out Garden To Greet Purple And R. I. State

By JACK CONWAY

Basketball will go big-time at the Garden tomorrow night when Rhode Island State will battle Holy Cross before 13,900 persons. It is the banner attraction of the season, and it will cause the Garden management to forget some of the slim gatherings that have attended the games of the professional Celtics and some of the college teams.

Rhode Island State against Holy Cross is tops, and the contest would jam the New York Garden if it were being played there rather than in Boston. Both quintets rate with the best in the country, and a bitter contest is expected on the Garden court.

The public had very little opportunity to purchase tickets for tomorrow night's game. After Rhode Island State and Holy Cross received their ticket allotments, there were fewer than 1500 seats available for public sale. These were sold quickly. It is to be expected that some of them will pop up in the hands of speculators as will also be true of some of the pasteboards sent to Holy Cross and Rhode Island State. The noble breed of speculators always manages to get tickets for choice sports events.

One cannot hold the Garden management responsible for what carefree college youths do with tickets they secure from their athletic departments. College students frequently sell half of the tickets they get under their allotment and use the money to pay their expenses to the game.

I have seen West Point Cadets, looking forward to a little social life in New York on the night of a Notre Dame game, sell their extra tickets to the speculative trade. One cannot be severe in discussing this practice as most of the students do not have a great deal of fresh cash.

The betting element is talking about even money for tomorrow night's game, but I would say that off this season's records Rhode Island State will be a slight choice by game time.

The Garden's cut of the Holy Cross-Rhode Island State game will not wipe out the huge losses of the Celtics, but it will enable its basketball department to look to the future with the thought that a good professional club will eventually make money here. One of the best ways to bring about such a result would be to eliminate many of the minor games booked at the Garden and Arena and to concentrate on important contests.

Willie Pep Is Perfect Fighting Machine

Willie Pep of Hartford, world's featherweight champion who will collide with Joey Angelo of Providence in a ten-round bout at the Garden tonight under Goodwin A. C. auspices, is a perfect fighting machine. This remarkable titleholder has participated in more than 100 bouts, and Sammy Angott, a lightweight, is the only boxer to ever defeat him.

Angelo is also a lightweight and he maintains he has the boxing skill, speed and generalship to win from Pep. Angelo scored with recent wins over Bob Montgomery and Dennis Patrick Brady, and he will be at the top of his fistic wave when he breezes into action against Pep.

I saw Pep in his three bouts with Sal Bartolo, and he showed a different ring style in each of them. The first bout was an overweight affair, and furnished more action than the other two contests. Pep swapped punches with Bartolo and won a close decision.

In the return tussle, which was for the title, Pep made it a boxing match, and won every one of the 15 rounds. The third bout saw Pep playing things safe until he had Bartolo tired, and then scoring a knockout. Sal suffered a broken jaw, and this ended his ring career. Bartolo later purchased a tavern in East Boston. He will be at the ringside tonight to see his old rival in action against the clever Angelo.

Billy Conn Lost Golden Ring Opportunity

Things I saw and heard, but didn't get a chance to write until now . . . Dr. Vincent Nardiello, physician for the New York Athletic Commission, telling me Billy Conn lost as big a chance in his second bout with Joe Louis as he did in their first tussle . . . "Louis said he was 20 per cent better for Jersey Joe Walcott than he had been for Conn," said Dr. Nardiello . . . "Conn won the second and sixth rounds, and he might have won the title if he had shown any real fighting spirit . . . Louis had gone way back, but Conn didn't recognize it" . . . Mike Jacobs is doing well in Florida, and is very fortunate to be able to go to the races again after experiencing a serious illness.

The gray-haired usher at the New York Garden telling Johnny Buckley he remembers Ernie Schaaf in his prayers each night . . . Schaaf died following a bout with Primo Carnera in the New York Garden . . . Jimmy Kelley, who had the famous night spot in New York, was a Democratic leader in New York at the time of his death . . . Jimmy managed Babe Herman when the latter fought a draw with Louis (Kid) Kaplan, then world's featherweight champion, at Hartford . . . Jimmy Freeman, a first class New York referee, is colored . . . With so many colored boxers, there should also be colored ring officials.

Four Trophies, Eight Medals Foley Prizes

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

AMESBURY, Jan. 19—Interest is higher than the snow drifts here, concerning the impending third annual Walter Foley Memorial Slalom races, which will be held on Lock's Slope, next Saturday and Sunday, sponsored by the American, Record, Advertiser. Entries have been rolling in, but for the benefit of those who always wait until the last minute, we remind one and all that Thursday is the deadline for would-be contestants.

There is no entry fee. Send your name, age, address, and club affiliation to this writer, care of the Boston American, at 5 Winthrop sq., at once. Only unclassified skiers are eligible, and this means men and women of all classes.

Many girls, who can really ski better than they realize, are a bit shy about competing, yet a slow, steady run may win the ladies' race. The girls will face the starters' flag at eleven, Saturday, and there will be two runs. The men's event will begin at ten a. m. Sunday.

As is the custom in all ski races, names of entrants will be drawn from a box, and the numbers will be given out in the order that they are drawn.

And don't forget those prizes: Two large trophies and four silver medals, which will be awarded in each race.

Among recent entries are those from Jeanne Myrick, Amesbury Snow Flake Ski Club; Walter Winslow, Rockland; Robert Day, Willard Crockett, and John Puglia, of the Pisataqua Club, Maine; Francis Huntington, Silmes Funkhauser, and Paul Casey, Exeter Academy; Donald Moses and Barbara Donovan, Lynn Snow Chasers; Leland Carson, age 62, Newburyport; and Louis and Robert Anderson, Con's Ski Club, Andover.

The Yankee Flyers Club, of Haverhill, has also sent word that five members will participate in the races; while four girls, from the Outing Club of the Boston First National Bank plan to compete.

Ski tracks: We tried out the pair of those new aluminum skis for the first time, discovering that they are very different from hickories. These skis are light and feathery, not so fast in powder, and seem to be all edges. They have possibilities—but we'll stick to our wooden ones.

"It's wonderful to have so much snow," declared Fred and Bill Gallant, operators of the slope.

AHA Team Will Improve, Says Garrison

PRAGUE, Jan. 19 (AP)—The United States' Amateur Hockey Ass'n team, beaten in its European debut, will show improvement in other preparatory contests this week, Coach Johnny Garrison promised today.

"This was the first time this team has played on outdoor ice," Garrison said in explaining the squad's 6-5 loss to Czechoslovakia's Olympic forces here yesterday.

The AHA team hopes to represent the U. S. in the winter Olympics, beginning in St. Moritz, Switzerland, Jan. 30, although the AAU aggregation supported by the U. S. Olympic committee is en route to the scene by air with the same idea in mind.

The AHA squad has been accepted as the official U. S. entry by the Swiss Olympic organizing committee and the International Ice Hockey Federation. The U. S. Olympic committee has threatened to boycott the games if the team is permitted to compete.

The AAU hockey team left New York by plane last night.

The AHA squad, on the scene for several days, departed early today for Bratislava where it will play the Slovakian capital's club tonight.

The team bowed to Czechoslovakia in a fast contest before 8000 fans. Czech sports experts rated the Americans stronger than the squad that represented the United States in the world title matches won by Czechoslovakia here in 1947.

Garrison said his boys have "a lot of hard work ahead," but he predicted improvement in later showings.

"They were meeting up with a new style of play," he commented. "By the time we get back Thursday to play the Prague lawn tennis club I think you'll see we have a much improved team."

Garrison expressed confidence the AHA squad would carry the U. S. colors in the Olympic games.

But if not, he added, "Well, we'll just pull out and compete for the world title. The International Ice Hockey Federation is sticking by us."

The AHA coach said he didn't think the U. S. Olympic committee would be able to call all other competitors out of the games if the AHA represents America in the Olympics.

"A lot of them have told me they'll compete anyway," he declared.

Blow-Up by 'The Rocket' Justified

By BILL GRIMES

For years, I've seen opponents hold, trip and resort to every known type of foul while trying to stop Maurice Richard, the Canadiens' ace scorer but last night was the first time I ever saw "The Rocket" go berserk.

There isn't a player in the National Hockey League more entitled to "blow his top" than "Rocket" Richard. When he came up to the French club, Richard didn't lose any time proving to the NHL fans, and also his opponents, that he was a goal getter, par excellence. There was nothing the fans could do to stop "The Rocket' from making their goalies look bad. That was up to the players, who were not long in realizing that if they lived up to the rules, he'd fill the cages with pucks. So, what do they do? They assign the fastest man on their club to cover him. And the cover was instructed to hook, hold, trip—do anything, regardless of the rules to keep Richard from scoring.

Time and time again, I've seen Richard deliberately fouled as he was going in on the nets. His retaliations were limited to the odd elbow. He had cause to take off after his enemies but he always held his temper. Frequently I've marveled at his ability to keep his head.

But last night, after he was penalized by Referee Bill Chadwick for slashing at Milt Schmidt, "The Rocket" did a complete about-face. Shortly after half-time in the first period, Milt Schmidt raced down the right wing boards with the puck. Richard caught up with him at the Canadiens' bench an dtook a wild swipe at the Bruin. Immediately, Chadwick "fingered" him and announced his decision when the play stopped. Just as soon as he was ordered to the penalty box, Richard went into his dance. He chased the referee around and, according to those within earshot, his language was very profane. Finally, he went into the box but continued to work over Chadwick. Then, he broke his stick on the top of the dasher and heaved it out on the ice. Lineman Bill Scherr called the referee's attention to the stick throwing act and Richard was given a "game misconduct" penalty, which washed him up for the evening.

That was the last straw. "The Rocket" must have seen red. Scherr tried to hold him and for his trouble received a punch on the side of his head. (If Scherr follows the example of other linesmen who have been slugged, he'll deny that he was hit). Then, Richard went after Chadwick again. He finally skated down toward the exit but suddenly changed his mind and began to retrace his steps. Kenny Reardon grabbed him but to no avail. Back he went and asked Chadwick for protection to get him to the dressing room, and amid the boos of the capacity crowd, "The Rocket" vanished.

Murph Chamberlain was sitting out a penalty when Richard entered the box and, of course, old "Hard Rock" lost no time getting into the argument. In fact, immediately after "The Rocket" threw his stick out on the ice, which made it mandatory that he receive a "game misconduct" penalty, Murph did likewise but in the confusion his act was not detected.

There were numerous wrestling matches in progress through the heated battle. "Moe" Henderson and Kenny Reardon went into a clinch on the boards and two or three Bruins joined the melee and tried to break Reardon's back by bending him over the dasher. But, the best extra-attraction was a short fight between Fernie Flaman and Ken Mosdell. They went into action at the east end but the first punch fired—a right cross after removing the glove—by the Bruin opened a gash on the Canadiens' cheek and dropped him for the count.

Everyone, who saw this contest, must agree that pro hockey is a tough way to make a living.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS

Toronto 3, Rangers 2.
Hawks 5, Red Wings 4.
BRUINS 1, Canadiens 1.

Crawford Back on Hospital List

The crowd at last night's game was a fine tribute to the Bruins. With the club down in fifth place, the fans plowed through snowdrifts and freezing weather hoping to see the Bruins move a step up the ladder.

Coach "Chuck" Conacher will receive a rousing welcome when his Hawks return home to meet Canadiens on Wednesday. After suffering eight straight defeats from the Red Wings, the Blackhawks finally crashed through to a win last night.

The Jordan Marsh awards went to "Sandy" Sandford, Don Gallinger and Fernie Flaman but the fans in Sections 52 and 53 and Boxes 74 and 75 selected Jimmy Peters, Frank Brimsek and Murray Henderson.

It required 45 minutes to play the first period. And, it was almost 10:50 when the final whistle sounded.

Jack Crawford is back on the hospital list. During the Detroit game last Wedesnday, "The Squire" hurt his knee again and also came out of the fray with a bad toe. He expects to be ready for the Maple Leafs.

Milt Schmidt is carrying on gamely. His knee is very sore but he's trying to skate out the soreness. Once Crawford and Schmidt round into form, the Bruins will start to go.

Murph Chamberlain, who made his first appearance of the season at the Garden last night must have slept in this morning. He should have been worn to a frazzle, for he not only took his regular turns on the ice but he also tried to help Bill Chadwick referee the game. Murph has been in the league for many, many years but he's still a valuable asset.

President Weston W. Adams feared that the Bruins and Canadiens might be delayed returning from Canada. In 24 years, the Bruins have never had a postponement. Adams was in constant touch with the New York Central and Boston & Maine railroads all day yesterday.

Referee Bill Charwick took three tosses last night. On two occasions, he skated into a hole on the ice in front of the penalty box and in the third period he took a terrible toss, which stunned him. Although he was practically "out" after his final nose dive, Chadwick tried to stop the play by blowing his whistle.

Ex-Olympic Ski Star Dies After Fall in Jump

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (AP)—James Henriksen, 34, of Eau Claire, Wis., member of the 1936 U. S. Olympic ski team, died early today in a Chicago hospital of injuries suffered while competing in the Norge Ski Club's 42nd annual jumping tournament here.

Henriksen fell in making his second leap of 179 feet in the Class A division. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage and was taken to the hospital unconscious.

Gilmer Gets $20,000 Year From 'Skins

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (INS)—The Washington Redskins of the National Professional Football League announced today that Harry Gilmer, Alabama backfield ace, has signed a two-year contract at undisclosed terms.

Gilmer had sought $100,000 on a five-year deal, and the two-year pact is believed to call for around $20,000 a season, which would make him one of the higher-paid performers on the Redskin roster.

The Crimson Tide passing star is intended as an eventual replacement for the aging, but still formidable, Sammy Baugh who, despite mediocre support, enjoyed one of his greatest seasons with the 'Skins in 1947.

George Preston Marshall, president of the Redskins, made known the signing of Gilmer after a "secret" conference Sunday between the Alabama luminary and Coach Turk Edwards of the Tribe.

Gilmer has had close attention from all-America selectors throughout his college gridiron career. He is a six-footer weighing 165 pounds and is expected to fit without trouble into the T-formation on which the Redskin offensive is based.

Brown Battles Devens on Ice

With the arrival of the mid-year examination period at several Greater Boston schools, the college hockey schedule is lighter this week. Still the Arena manages to present two nights of the sport with a single bill tonight and a double-header tomorrow night.

Only Three Days Remain To Enter 13th Skate Derby

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

The Silver Skates Derby entry box will remain open only three more days. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight on Thursday. The Derby—now in its 13th season—rates as the most spectacular one-day ice show held anywhere in the United States.

The 700 speed skaters who will race in the Derby make it an unparalleled thrill show. The glittering figure skaters, barrel jumper and clown will give the Derby much of the spectacular of the Ice Capades and the Ice Follies.

Audrey Planty, English gold medalist, is currently en route from England aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth. Audrey will give the features figure skating exhibition. Alex Hurd, Olympic champion, will be here with his ten rolling barrels. The other Silver Skates Derby specialists also rate as leaders in their specialized lines.

The Middle Atlantic speed skating championships, held at Newburgh, N. Y., was the greatest mass speed workout held this season. The New Englanders did well in the meet.

Nippy DeNino, a Silver Skater from Providence, showed his best form of the season while winning the senior 440. Bobby Hall, Providence, also a Derby Skater, gave his stock a meteoric boost when he beat the top New York skaters in the intermediate half-mile. Al Broadhurst, former Silver Skates champion, won the half-mile and was second in the three-mile. Frank Broadhurst, Skates champ in 1947, was third in the mile.

Jean Charlton, Arlington, girl champ in last years Silver Skates Derby won the intermediate 880 and was second in the 880. Mary Dame, Revere, was the No. 2 skater in the junior 440-yard race. Then there was little Nancy Viner, Pittsfield, who thrilled the jammed Garden audience a year ago to win the Silver Skates Derby Midget class. Nancy duplicated in yesterday's Newburgh meet.

Get your Silver Skates Derby entry blank in the mail today. There is no entry fee. Just clip the coupon and mail your blank before the entry box is fastened tight.

Some of the recent Derby entries are from James Hudson, 25, Boston ave., Medford; Pamela Rogers, 9, Cross st., Somerville; James Englemann, 17, Seymour st., Windsor, Ct.; Annellen Comerford, 15, Foster st., Brighton; Kenneth Gobiel, 4, Biddeford, Me.; Edgar J. Dame, Jr., Bennington st., Revere; John Moran, 17, Bristol rd., Somerville; Richard P. McCue, 17, Ackers ave., Brookline; William A. McCue, 13, Ackers ave., Brookline; George F. Rickey Assures Robinson Raise CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (INS)—Speculation arose in Chicago today over whether Jackie Robinson, baseball and the Brooklyn Dodger "rookie of the year," would accompany Boss Branch Rickey back to Brooklyn to discuss salary terms for the 1948 season.

The star Negro first baseman, who contributed greatly to his team's 1947 National League Championship, appeared unexpectedly last night at the Chicago Baseball Writers' annual banquet.

Both Rickey and Robinson said they had not yet talked salary terms. The Dodger president declared, however, that "of course, he's going to get more money this year."

Robinson, who batted .296, stole 29 bases and batted in 48 runs last season, reportedly received $5500 for his first year in the majors.

Comebacking Mac Mitchell Races on Successive Nights

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Leslie Mac Mitchell, former champ miler back on the winning trail after a year's absence, will attempt an iron man stunt this week as the major indoor track season gets underway at full tilt.

Mac Mitchell, who came from behind to win the mile in the Metropolitan AAU track and field championships in 4:18.9 over the flat surface of Brooklyn's 23d Regiment Armory Saturday, will run the mile in the Philadelphia Inquirer games Friday in Convention Hall and in the Boston K. of C. games in the Boston Garden Saturday.

Two other meets are on tap for the week. Army will be host to 22 colleges Saturday at West Point in the fifth annual relays, while the 104th Regiment Armory will stage the Long Island K. of C. games the same day.

Mac Mitchell, running for the New York Athletic Club, will compete against teammate Tommy Quinn, Bill Hulse of New York, Taver Perkins of the Illinois A. C., Gerry Karver of Penn State, Villanova's Browning Ross and Jack Milne of North Carolina in the Inquirer games.

Hulse, Quinn, Perkins and Gil Dodds, current king of the milers, will be among Mac Mitchell's opponents in the K. of C. event at Boston.

In the Metropolitan meet, Mac Mitchell was in fifth place and 20 yards off the pace going into the final quarter when he launched a spectatcular drive to beat out Quinn by three yards. Larry Ellis, New York University freshman, was third.

The win was Mac Mitchell's first over that distance in a year. It also was his first mile run of the season after two warmups at two miles.

While Mac Mitchell captured the fans' fancy, Jerry Connolly of Fordham was voted the outstanding competitor of the meet for his record-tieing performance in the 1000.

Connolly equalled Gene Venzke's seven-year-old record of 2:14.2, beating Reggie Pearman of NYU by three yards. It was Pearman's first setback.

Army-trained men get more out of college

says E. R. Silvers, Dean of Men, Rutgers University

Recent high school graduates are handicapped

"The average seventeen and eighteen-year-older now planning to attend college would get much more out of college and contribute much more to it, if he first gave himself a chance to broaden his experience by going into service . . . recent high school graduates find the pace too fast for them . . . They become followers, with little opportunity of developing the qualities of leadership which a college should give."
